

Binaggio Pals Are Indicted

Federal Jury Names Rainey, Goldberg And Mangiaracina

KANSAS CITY, May 25—(AP)—Three henchmen of the Charles Binaggio Northside political organization, including gambler Walter L. Rainey, were indicted by a federal grand jury here today on charges of income tax evasion. The other two were Samuel (Jew Baby) Goldberg, and Johnny (The Mag) Mangiaracina.

Rainey and Mangiaracina were each indicted on three counts and Goldberg on five. The government charged Goldberg had not even bothered to make reports for the years 1947-48 when it contends he had a gross income of $58,681.

It was the second time within a week that the grand jury, which has been investigating the underworld since last September, has struck at figures close to Charles Binaggio, the northside political boss who with his top henchman, Charles Gargotta, was slain gangster style in his first district Democratic club rooms on Truman road April 5.

The grand jury Monday indicted Thomas (Tano) Lococo, slender Italian who rose high in the underworld as an enforcer, and Samuel C. Hayden, a former assistant county prosecutor and one time state legislator from President Truman's home county. They too, were indicted on charges of income tax evasion.

Includes Several Counts
The indictments today charged Rainey with making net income reports of $16,241.15 for 1946-47-48 and it should have been $31,674.88.

Mangiaracina also faced three counts for the same years which the government charges he made net income reports of $13,675.72 and it should have been $35,810.71.

Goldberg was indicted on five counts, two for failure to make a return for the years 1947 and 1948 when the government claims he made a gross of $68,831.41. It also indicted him on charges of income tax evasion for the years 1946, 1947 and 1948, claiming he had received a net income of $70,631.41 and owes the government $25,200.32 in unpaid taxes.

Bonds at $5,000
Bonds for the three were set at $5,000 each. They are to be arranged tomorrow before U. S. district judge Albert L. Reeves. After returning the indictments the grand jury recessed until June 14.

The 54-year-old Rainey long was known as a front man for Binaggio and his crowd in gambling and rackets here. Rainey first came to the attention of police at the age of nineteen, when he pleaded guilty to a pool hall robbery and was given two years in prison.

When the federal grand jury began its investigation of gambling activities here last fall, Rainey was frequently called upon to be present in the witness room. He appeared before the jury several times.

Even as he was being investigated the Kansas City Star carried a story which reported that it had found him operating a gambling layout at 1800-A East Thirty-first street.

It was to have been an elaborate set-up. A steel door had been put up to guard against police raids. Dice and card games were in operation at the spot. The word had been spread that horse race betting would be under way soon.

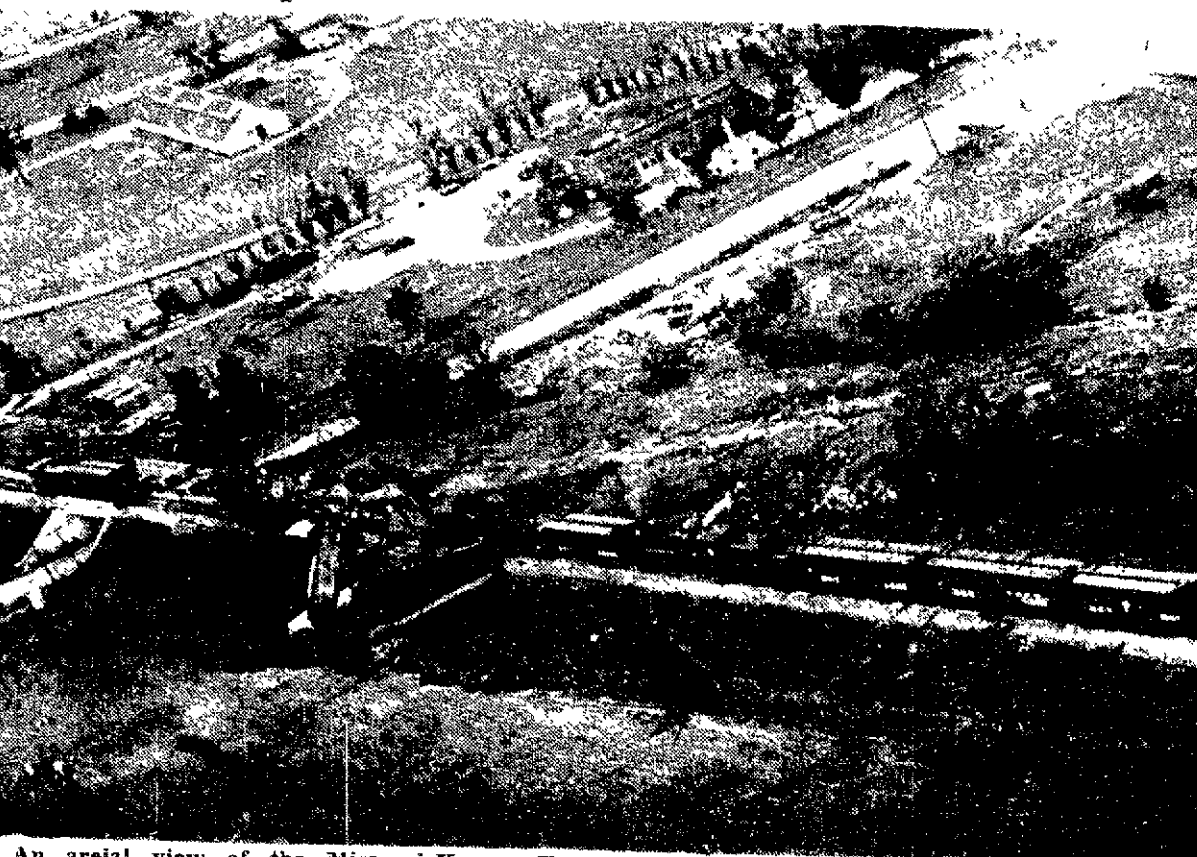

After the newspaper printed the story, the equipment disappeared. Police raided and found nothing.

Presented Alibi
When police began their investigation of the murders of Binaggio and Gargotta they found that Lococo, a confederate of the slain men, used as his alibi that he was at the Thirty-first street spot in a crap game with Rainey. Rainey confirmed the alibi.

As recently as April 1, four days before the Binaggio-Gargotta slayings, the grand jury in a recent interim report asserted that Rainey acquired an interest in a policy racket which was netting $14,000 a month.

Like Rainey, Johnny the Mag has been around a long time in Kansas City. The 38-year-old Mangiaracina had his first brush

Shutdown of Atomic Plant At Oak Ridge

Three Thousands AFL Workers in Walkout Today

OAK RIDGE, Tenn., May 25—(AP)—A mammoth atomic plant construction project was shutdown completely today by a wildcat walkout of AFL workers.

The strike, which members of the Laborers and Hodcarriers union began yesterday without warning, spread to all other crafts working on the project, the Atomic Energy Commission reported.

"The project is completely shut down," said an AEC spokesman. "We haven't been informed by the union or anybody else as to what the walkout is all about."

"The laborers started the strike yesterday and today the craftsmen joined them," the spokesman, who withheld use of his name, added.

The strike came a day after an arbitration board had ended a hearing on a wage dispute involving the laborers and hodcarriers' union.

Set Up Picket Lines
Some 3,000 workers are affected by the walkout. The AFL crafts involved are members of the Knoxville Building Trades Council, whose officials were not immediately available for comment.

Picket lines were established outside the various entrances to this atomic city early today, and by mid-morning pickets also appeared near a gate to the restricted area.

One union official, John S. Turner, a conciliation consultant for the hodcarriers, joined the AEC in saying he didn't know what brought about the walkout.

"I haven't the slightest idea who the instigators of this thing are," said Turner, adding that the union did not authorize the strike.

Turner said he would "talk to the boys" again and try to get them back on the job.

Cancer Clinic Friday
The Cancer Clinic will be held at the Nurses Home at Bothwell hospital at 1:30 o'clock Friday afternoon.

Members of the Pettis County Medical Society will assist.

Justice Douglas Named As 'Father of The Year'

NEW YORK, May 25—(AP)—Supreme court justice William O. Douglas was named "Father of the Year" today.

Alvin Austin, director of the National Father's Day committee, said Douglas was selected because he was considered "the most colorful and outstanding personality in public life today who by his thoughts and acts exemplifies the committee's 1950 theme, 'For a Safe World Tomorrow, Teach Democracy Today.'"

Other 1950 titles: Sidney Blackmer, "Stage Father of the Year" for his welfare work for needy actors and their children and his work as a "moonlight school teacher in his native state of North Carolina where he taught the rudiments of education in impoverished neighborhoods."

Swift Officials In Meeting Here

A cream improvement quality meeting, attended by 25 managers and butter makers, representing all the Swift and Company plants in the states of Missouri, Iowa and Illinois, was held in Sedalia today.

The group met at the Bothwell hotel this morning and held a conference, then had luncheon in the Magnolia room at 12:30 o'clock.

They checked the cream quality at the Sedalia Swift & Company plant, and its other operations, this morning.

The sectional spring meeting was conducted by E. J. Granison, John O'Leary and W. J. Hughes from the Swift & Company's general office in Chicago, Illinois.

Robert Wiske is the local Swift & Company manager. George H. Trader, a former manager for Swift & Company in Sedalia, was a special luncheon guest. Mr. Trader was with the Swift company for many years.

Graduation at Sacred Heart

Rev. Schumacher, J. C., Refers to Holy Year Class

Commencement for the class of 1950 at Sacred Heart high school was held at the school gymnasium Thursday night with the Rev. R. J. Schumacher, J. C. L. of Kansas City and pastor of Assumption church, as the principal speaker.

Rev. Schumacher commented on the fact that this graduating class is the class of the Holy Year, 1950, and he compared the commencement exercises to the passage into eternity. He said:

"Just as the superintendent of Sacred Heart gives a diploma to each graduate and solicits him, or her, for the work well done, so he hoped that the Divine Master at the day of judgment would say to each one 'well done, my good and faithful servant!'"

The highest ranking girl, Miss Mary Lou Ash, and the top ranking boy, Robert Zoernig, received Rotary awards of twenty-five dollar bonds, each.

No Reason Seen For Any Super Rule

President Gets is Work on His Defense Budget

By Dr. Harold Oliver

WASHINGTON, May 25—(AP)—President Truman said today he sees no reason for a super government in this country.

That was his reaction to a proposal to set up a commission on national security to study security measures.

He said he is trying to run the government under the Constitution and he will continue to do so.

His statement came at a news conference when he was asked for comment on a Washington Post editorial proposing the bipartisan commission.

The Post suggested the agency could survey such questions as fifth columns, civilian defense, development of new weapons and size and use of military expenditures.

Mr. Truman said work is going ahead on the defense budget for the fiscal year starting July 1, 1951, and a ceiling has been placed on the amount the military can spend.

Not Give Ceiling
He would not disclose the ceiling, but several weeks ago he said the next defense budget would be lower than the proposed outlay of about $14,000,000,000 in the year starting next July 1.

Mr. Truman said reporters would have to wait for the new budget before getting answers to questions about American defense readjustments reportedly discussed at the Atlantic pact conferences in London and touched on in armed forces day speeches here.

On other matters, the President said he was against setting up a fair employment practices commission on a voluntary compliance basis. Some legislators are proposing that plan as a compromise for the President's request for an FEPC with power to enforce bans against racial and other discrimination in employment.

He said he does not intend right now to go into the situation involving Robert Denham, general counsel of the National Labor Relations Board. A reporter said Senator Humphrey (D-Minn.) had asked that Denham be fired.

Mr. Truman replied that he proposed a reorganization of NLRB under which Denham's independent powers would have been

Eleven Cars of Katy Freight Are Derailed

Accident Near The Underpass Ties up Traffic on Line

Eleven freight cars of the Missouri-Kansas-Texas railroad, second section of No. 74, north bound, were derailed and wrecked, just a few feet east of the underpass on Highway 65 at the south end of Sedalia about 11:18 o'clock Wednesday night. Five coal cars loaded with sulphur and pig iron and one box car loaded with wood pulp were ditched with five other cars had their wheels derailed but did not leave the road bed. No injuries were suffered by any crew members.

The freight made up at Parsons, Kas., was in charge of Frank L. Miller, 1436 South Carr avenue, engineers in charge of the double-header steam locomotive were T. E. Phillips, Franklin and E. J. Brommer of Boonville Miller reported the train was traveling about 40 miles per hour and preparing to stop at Grand avenue and switch a car to the fair grounds.

The derailment was believed due to the falling of a brake rigging on the rear trucks of a coal car. A crossing plank at a road at the southwest end of the fair grounds was ripped up and nearly a mile on north the rigging struck a switch point a short distance west of the underpass bridge. From there the rigging began bouncing onto ties and across the bridge. A few feet east of the bridge the rigging began tearing up ties and caused the cars behind to leave the tracks.

The car with the damaged brake rigging was about twenty-six from the front end of the train and did not leave the rails. A coal car just behind the trucks was jerked loose and was pulled up the track. The nearly eight poles before the train was stopped. Approximately 300 feet of the road bed was damaged east of the underpass.

Were No Injuries
No injuries were reported by the district superintendent, O. L. Crum of Franklin, Mo., who supervised the train wreck as "just one of those things." He said he had no idea of how much damage was involved, or if he wanted to venture as to the damage. The actual damage will be ascertained when the claim agent and car man arrive.

The first train to go through this morning, since the wreck last night was freight train No. 81, which was going west. It went through at 9:30 a.m. Passenger train No. 6, from the west, which was scheduled to arrive in Sedalia at 11:30 o'clock last night, but was held up a mile west of the wreck overnight, went through this morning at 10:05 o'clock. Many of the 14 or 15 passengers aboard, made arrangements to leave by bus that night.

Wreckers Called
Wreckers from New Franklin and Parsons, Kas., were called. The New Franklin wrecker arrived at the scene about 4 o'clock this morning and began shoveling derailed cars to one side so work on replacing the roadbed and rails could get underway. It was necessary to use the two wreckers to remove the cars in the ditch and put them on other cars to be taken to New Franklin.

About 30 section workers started to clear the debris and repair the tracks this morning about 1:00 o'clock. Close to 200 new ties and rail were replaced today. The section workers were called from Sedalia, Green Ridge, Bonanza and Clifton City. Train officials from Franklin, Mo., O. L. Crum, district superintendent; R. B. George, assistant superintendent; A. R. Twillman, road foreman of engineers; C. W. Robins, general road master; and J. L. Brant, road master, and J. H. Brunkhorst, superintendent of the Sedalia shops, were on the scene this morning, handling their various duties.

The freight engine was pulling 31 cars loaded with sulphur, pig iron and wall board, when the derailment occurred. The two engines and twenty-three cars not damaged and on the east side of the wreck went on to the local station and departed about 3:30 o'clock for New Franklin. Other cars not damaged on the west end of the wreck were pulled back onto sidings near the fair grounds.

'Fertilizes' Hedge With Cement

KANSAS CITY, May 25—(AP)—At dusk last night Allen C. Garcelon decided to fertilize a new hedge in his yard. He picked up a sack in the garage and shook out the light gray substance up and down the hedge.

Then he saw the name on the sack—cement. He had picked up the wrong sack. The sky looked like rain. As any gardener knows, rain and a thick layer of cement won't help a young hedge.

Mrs. Garcelon came out with whisk brooms and they brushed furiously. But the work was slow. Neighbors gathered to watch.

Finally Perry Brewer brought out his vacuum cleaner and used the blower attachment to scatter the cement into a thin, harmless layer over the yard.

Taxation on Co-Ops Intent

Proposal to Yield $600,000,000 Year Rep. Mason States

By Francis M. Le May

WASHINGTON, May 25—(AP)—A political hot potato—taxation of farmer and consumer co-ops—dropped into the House Ways and Means committee today. Chairman Doughton (D-N.C.) called for a vote on the issue.

Rep. Mason (R-Ill.) proposed a tax system for co-ops that he said would yield the government about $600,000,000 a year.

The committee turned to the co-op tax problem after it voted yesterday to give income tax deductions last chance to settle voluntarily with Uncle Sam.

Under present government regulations, tax evaders—under certain circumstances—can avoid fines and imprisonment by confessing their tax sins and paying up.

But the committee decided to write the "amnesty" provision into law, so that the evaders would have legal protection against prosecution when they voluntarily disclose their full tax obligation.

Rep. Ford (D-R.I.) predicted this would bring in millions of elusive tax dollars.

Be More Competitive
As for co-ops, Mason said "they

Not Put Fingers In Eyes; Pull Hair

BALTIMORE, May 25—(AP)—Mrs. Lillian Stummers was up in police court today on a charge of harboring a biting dog and it looked bad for her until the victim started talking.

The victim was little Linda Hyson, half past two.

Perched on her mother's arms, she answered questions put by Magistrate Herbert Franklin.

"How did the dog happen to bite you on the chin?"

"I put my fingers in his eyes," Magistrate Franklin dismissed the charge against Mrs. Stummers, but continued his questioning.

MPSC Answers Congressman Christopher

Says Company Offers To Provide 6-Mill Kilowatt Hour Rate

WARRENSBURG, Mo., May 25.—(P)—The Missouri Public Service Company (MPSC) said last night it offered to provide rural electrification cooperatives electricity at 6 mills a kilowatt hour.

The statement, from Ralph J. Green, president of MPSC, was in reply to remarks made in Washington Tuesday by Rep. Christopher (D-Mo.). The congressman said that private power companies don't appear willing to sign contracts at the 6 mill rate.

Offer Made Eight Months Ago

Green said the offer to provide current to REA came 8 months ago from private companies in the area under jurisdiction of the Southwest Power Administration (SPA), a federal agency.

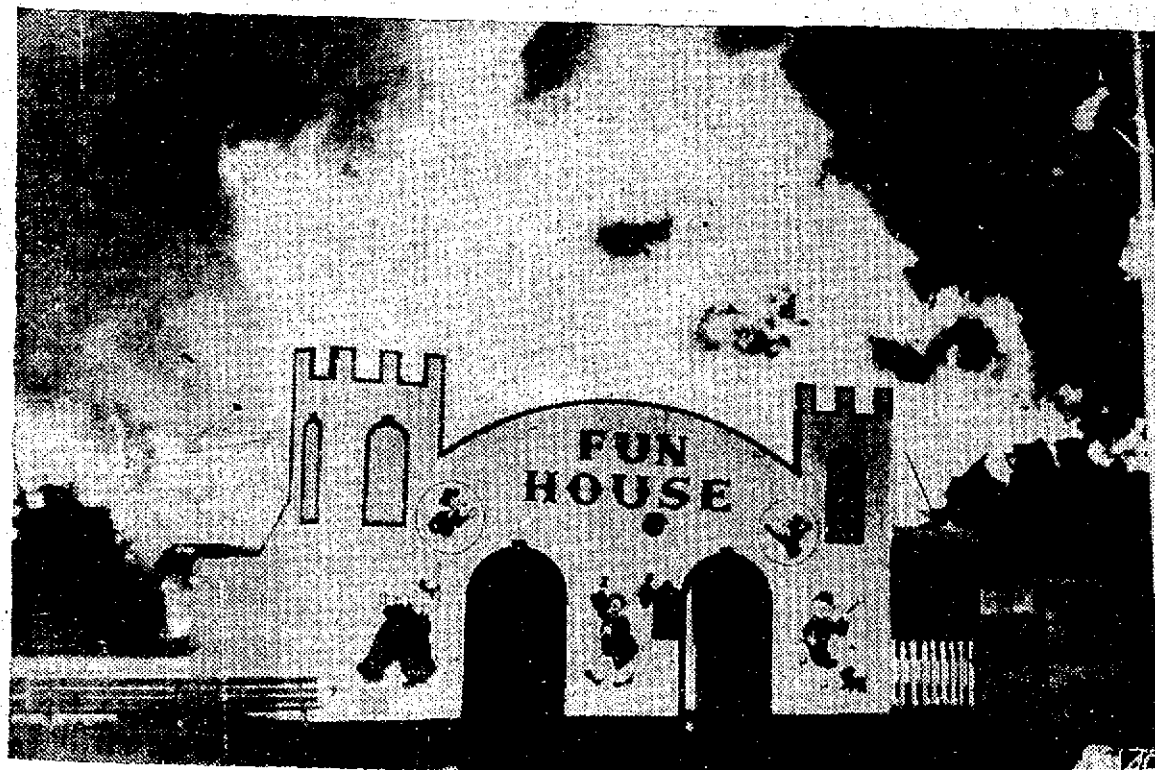

"I say emphatically," Green stated, "That the Missouri Public Service Company never refused to sign such a contract. Along with other power companies in the SPA jurisdictional area we long ago offered to do just what Mr. Christopher claims we are refusing to do."

Green also rebutted Rep. Christopher's complaint of overcharge by private firms.

There Is a 4.7 Mill Tax

He said MPSC is selling to REA Coops at a wholesale rate of 11 or 12 mills a kilowatt hour. SPA,

'Fun House' Gets Too Hot

Flames sweep through the "Fun House" of the Rocky Glen park, six miles south of Scranton, Pa., as a spectacular blaze sweeps through the amusement park. Flames shot so high they could be seen for a distance of 15 miles. The fire was believed to have started in a penny arcade. It spread to a roller coaster, the "Fun House" and another installation. Only a caretaker was in the amusement park when the fire started. (AP Wirephoto)

Green said, offered to sell to co-ops from its new Missouri city plant at 6 mills.

"But the SPA," Green concluded, "does not have to pay taxes. If our tax payment of 4-7 mills on each kilowatt hour sold is added to the proposed 6 mill rate of SPA we are today selling power to our REA coop customers only three-tenths of one mill higher than SPA proposes to charge the REA co-ops from its new Missouri city ops."

First Methodist Church Holds Fellowship Meeting

The regular meeting of the church night "Fellowship" was held at the First Methodist Wednesday night at 6:30 o'clock. The Fellowship is a regular weekly feature of the church and various groups of the church are invited to attend each week. The members of the choir and their families were the guests in Wednesday's meeting.

The program for the meeting was: Dinner, a program in which Mrs. C. D. Demare sang a solo accompanied by Carolyn Steward; and a study time.

A 'Draftless Draft' Bill Is Approved

Selective Service Law Extended For Two More Years

WASHINGTON, May 25.—(AP)—A "draftless draft" bill, providing a two-year extension of the selective service law but barring inductions unless Congress gives the word, passed the House late Wednesday and went to the Senate.

Approved By A 216 To 11 Vote

The House approved the legislation by a standing vote of 216 to 11, with individual lawmakers not recorded by name.

It would extend selective service, on a stand-by-basis, for two years beyond the expiration date of the present law, next June 24. Youths attaining their 18th birthdays would be required to register with their local draft boards, as at present, but they could not be ordered into uniform unless Congress declared the existence of a national emergency requiring expansion of the armed forces.

The official title of the bill was changed to the "Manpower Registration Act," to conform to standard character of the project.

Before finally approving the measure, the House knocked down four amendments intended to prevent segregation and racial discrimination in the military services. These were offered by Reps.

Powell (D-NY) and Javits (D-Lib, NY).

Would Postpone Bill

The House also shouted down a motion by Rep. Hoffman (R-Mich.) to shelve the draft extension proposal. Rep. Miller (R-Neb.) proposed postponement of the bill for six months as a "peace move."

but that also was swamped. Although passage was a foregone conclusion, the House talked draft and war for more than two hours before the decisive vote.

The new Manpower Registration

Act would continue registration and classification of youths between 18 and 26 until June 24, 1952.

The bill also would extend the President's power to mobilize industry and take over plants essential to war production—subject, as in the case of inductions, to congressional declaration of an emergency.

The bill would end voluntary enlistments by 18-year-olds, and halt all voluntary enlistments for periods of less than two years.

Britain Labor Gov't Nod To Red China

Out For Admission Of That Government To United Nations

LONDON, May 25—(AP)—Great Britain's Labor government has come out for admission of Red China to the United Nations.

The announcement was made by Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin almost simultaneously with a cautiously worded statement from U. N. Secretary-General Trygve Lie saying there is hope of ending the cold war by careful negotiation.

France Will Not Interfer

Diplomatic sources in Paris said France will not stand in the way of admitting China Communists to the U. N.

The American position, about the same as the French, is that the United States will not sponsor Red China but will agree to any majority decision.

Russia has boycotted U. N. meetings since last Jan. 10 because of the presence of Chiang Kai-Shek's Nationalist delegates, contending their big power seats now belong to Mao Tse-tung's Reds.

Observers speculated that the China diplomatic developments sprang partly at least from Lie's current save-the-U. N. mission. It has taken him a month to the four big power capitals—Washington, London, Paris and Moscow—and part of the way back on a record round.

Lie Visit French Officials

Since leaving Moscow, where he had a 90-minute talk last week with Prime Minister Joseph Stalin, Lie revisited the top officials of France and Britain and expects to see President Truman and Secretary of State Acheson in Washington again next week. Lie talked with Mr. Truman and Acheson before sailing for Europe April 22.

Lie has campaigned openly for several weeks for seating Red China in the U. N. as a "common sense" means of getting Russia back and in recognition of Mao's actual rule over the China mainland and its 470,000,000 people. Lie regards the question as the immediate issue that must be cleared up to get the Russians back into big power discussion of pressing world problems.

Lie Returning Home

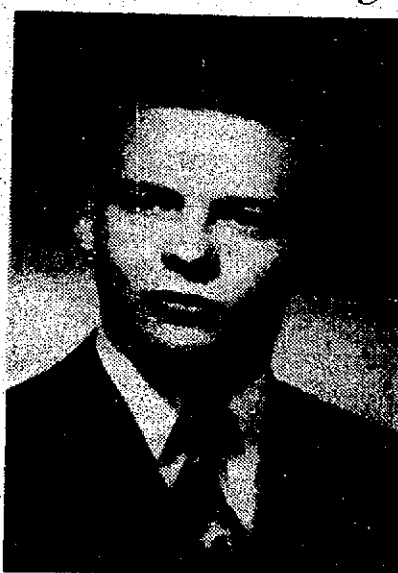

Before departing by plane tonight at the end of his European tour, Lie made a formal statement saying a basis for constructive negotiations to reduce the tensions of the cold war.

Britain is the first and only western big power to recognize Red China but she has never supported any votes at Lake Success to unseat the Nationalists.

Banquet to Honor Graduates

A banquet with the theme "Century of Progress" was given in honor of the Senior class of the Sweet Springs high school Friday evening, May 12, by the Junior class at the school.

Ninety-five persons attended the banquet which was served in the auditorium. It was decorated with crepe paper streamers of red, white, blue, silver and grey. The tables were laid with white tablecloths adorned with centerpieces of carnations, the class flowers. After the invocation was given by Paul Wulfe, Margaret Hoffman, Junior class president, gave a brief welcome speech.

A response was made by Catherine Jackson, Senior class president.

The school board members and their husbands attended the banquet. The mothers of the Junior students prepared the repast which was served by the Freshman and Sophomore girls.

Article on Blood Read to Club

The Lookout Friendly Neighbors club held their regular meeting at the home of Mrs. S. Hood with seven members and six visitors present. The session was called to order by the vice-president, Mrs. Claude Brown. Roll call was answered with "a secret ambition I once had."

The benediction was followed by a song led by Mrs. Roy DeWitt. The devotion was given by Mrs. J. F. Shaw and followed by the Lord's Prayer led by Mrs. S. M. Hood.

Mrs. Roy DeWitt read an article on the flow of blood. Home management leader and food leader is Mrs. J. F. Shaw. Other talks and reports were given by the club members. Following the reports the game leader, Mrs. Arthur McMullin presided over several games. The next meeting will be held with Mrs. Oleah Jones, June 15th.

Birds Downed Giants With Good Pitching

Cloyd Boyer Took Over For Cards in Second Inning

By The Associated Press
Losing three straight to Brooklyn last week did anything but put a damper on the St. Louis Cardinals, who thereupon won three of their next four games. But still they picked up only half a game on Brooklyn which keeps on winning too.

The Redbirds downed the New York Giants yesterday by virtue of some fine pitching by Cloyd Boyer, a right-hander. He took over from faltering Max Lanier in the second inning and went on to a 2-1 victory, being found for only two hits. The Giants' pitching victim was Monte Kennedy.

Red and Stan
Decisive work for the Cardinals was turned in by Red Schoendienst and Stan Musial. Red came through with a timely single in the fourth inning and scored Enos Slaughter, who had beaten out a slow roller and moved ahead on an infield out.

Musial stole home in the eighth inning. He had singled, moved to third on Johnny Lindell's single and a wild pitch, and scored when Kennedy stuck to pick Lindell off first base.

The Cardinals and the Giants wind up their series this afternoon, with Howard Pollet pitching against Dave Kosto.

At St. Louis last night the Boston Red Sox defeated the Browns 7 to 5, for the first Boston victory in four night games.

Manager's Mistake
Lou Kretlow, who cost the Browns $25,000 last winter, started the game—and that was Manager Zack Taylor's mistake. In the first inning the Red Sox got three runs on one hit, a double, and three bases on balls, which constituted a comfortable cushion for Boston's Mel Narnell, the leading pitcher of the American League last year.

Harry Dorish, who came to the Browns as a cast-off from Boston, relieved Kretlow in the second inning but couldn't stifle his old mates, who touched him for eight hits in his six and two-thirds innings.

A Sad Day Was Had by Tom Glaviano

'It Was Hell,' Was Way He Recalled His Three Errors

By Joe Reichler
NEW YORK, May 25—(AP)—"I know what you want to talk about," Tommy Glaviano said, "but can't we skip it?"
"I'm trying to forget it," he grinned ruefully, "but I guess I never will. It's one of those things a guy remembers to his dying day."

Outside this clinging memory, Glaviano is none the worse for wear for that harrowing chapter in his young life when his three successive errors handed the Brooklyn Dodgers a miracle 9-8 victory in the ninth inning last week.

A Hustler
His batting average is still around the .320 mark and his St. Louis Cardinal teammates will tell you Tommy is one of the best hustlers in baseball.
"It was hell," the chunky little third baseman recalled. "I never felt worse in my life. After the third one I just stood there frozen to the spot. The boys walked past me without saying a word. As a matter of fact, the Skipper (Manager Eddie Dyer) still hasn't said a word about it to me."

"How I got to the clubhouse I don't know. I sat there with my head down for goodness knows how long. I didn't even bother to take off my uniform. No one even looked at me."

Some Comfort
"Finally Marty Marion came over, slapped me on the back and shouted, 'Mon, Dag, hurry up and get your clothes on. I found a new Italian eating place and there's a hell of a western playing that I don't want to miss.'"

"Marty then told me about a day he had when he couldn't do anything right on the field. 'The rest of them bobbie a few,' he told me. Stan Musial came over and said 'Stay in there, Dag, don't let it throw you.'"

"Oh, yes," Glaviano recalled. "Dyer did refer to the incident once. While having breakfast in Boston the next day, Dyer pointed to an article in a newspaper

Sedalia Legion Team Plays Boonville Tonight

The Sedalia Junior American Legion baseball team will leave from the Smith-Cotton high school this afternoon at 5:30 o'clock for Boonville, where they will play the Boonville Legions at 8:00 o'clock tonight.

David Johnson and Billy Arnold will take turns on the mound for Sedalia, while Larry Mines will get his first starting assignment of the season behind the plate.

Players making the trip will be: Outfielders: Dev, Broadus, Fall, Bartlett, O'Bannon; infielders: Burton, Shawver, Morgan, Percival, Bennett, Delph; catchers: Cochran and Mines; pitchers: Schultz, Barnes, Rogers, Johnson and Arnold.

Banquet Held For Sedalia Bowlers

The Sedalia Bowling Association met in the Ambassador room of the Bothwell hotel Wednesday night with the guest speaker being William Custer of Kansas City. Custer is the third vice president of the American Bowling Association and was secretary of the Kansas City bowling association for twenty years.

Custer's topic was "Bowling and the Legal Points in the ABC Rulings." The meeting was presided over by the secretary Paul Maxwell. James Ryan is president of the local association.

Merkle Gets Letters of Credit 40 Years Late; Had Fans' Admiration After Famous Boner

By Harry Grayson
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK — Fred Merkle's failure to touch second base as Harry McCormick crossed the plate with what otherwise would have been the winning run for the Giants in a key game with the hated Cubs at the Polo Grounds in September, 1908, was the most highly publicized baseball boner of all time.
It virtually made a recluse out of the famous first baseman who was in five World Series in eight years.

Merkle, now 61, talked baseball for the first time since he left it 23 years ago when I looked him up at Daytona Beach in late February.

"They'd call me Bonehead today if I showed myself," he said, bitterly.

I wrote a few lines about the frightful price this fine man paid for a mistake in a game made as a 19-year-old kid, and it brought many letters. As William L. Hickey stresses letters that should have been written 40 years ago.

Merkle passes Hickey's letter on to this department.

"Ordinarily I do not write people with whom I am not acquainted, but your story in the Dallas, Tex., Times-Herald caused me to make an exception," Hickey, a Dallas engineer and builder writes Merkle.

"First, when you say you 'never lived it down,' I am happy to tell you that you are wrong.

"It is true, of course, that a lot of brass-throated yappers kept on you, but they very definitely were in the minority. The minority is always noisy, and you heard the rough side.

"Unfortunately you probably never heard many of the credit comments and there were thousands of them. I know what I am talking about, because I was raised in Boston, have been a National league fan all my life, spent plenty of time as a youth in the centerfield bleachers.

"Take it from me that by the middle of the 1910 season the only feeling toward you on the part of the real public was one of wholehearted admiration and respect. This for the magnificent moral courage you displayed day after day in taking like a man everything the undesirable element saw fit to dish out. And for never forgetting for one moment to act like the real gentleman that you were and are.

"One day in 1910 you came to bat, and someone made the usual hackneyed slighting remark. A husky lad sitting near me turned and said: 'Keep your mouth shut. That guy has more guts than everybody in this park put together!' That is just one incident.

"I never heard anyone—even the most rabid wolf—ever even

Big Ten Track Meet to Open

EVANSTON, Ill., May 25.—(AP)—A six-team melee for team honors and possible shattering of three robust records seem promised in the 50th Big Ten outdoor track and field meet at Northwestern's Dyche stadium tomorrow and Saturday.

Defending champion Minnesota is accorded only an outside chance of retaining its title against the bids of indoor champion Ohio State, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin and Michigan.

The field of 250 athletes includes six returning champions, among them Wisconsin's Don Gehrmann, seeking his third straight mile crown, and Indiana's Charlie Peters, defending in both the 100 and 220 sprints.

Besides Peters, favored to retain both sprint titles, and Gehrmann who will shoot for a double in the half-mile and mile, other returning titleholders are Minnesota's Fred Brass in the high hurdles; Northwestern's Jim Holland in the broad jump; Indiana's Jim Roberson in the shotput and Ohio State's Bill Miller in the discus.

Indiana appears to have the best team balance with Peters in the sprints; Bill Garrett in the 440; Frank Owens and Dave De Witte in the distances; Bill Taylor in the hurdles, Dave Norton in the high jump and Roberson and Cliff Anderson in the weights. Preliminaries in nine events are booked tomorrow afternoon and finals in all 14 championships begin Saturday at 2:30 p. m. (EST)

Millers Win Fifth Straight

By The Associated Press
Minneapolis notched its fifth straight American Association victory in routing Louisville 10-2, last night. The second place Millers gained one full game on the league leading Indians.

Dixie Howell went the distance for Minneapolis, striking out nine and allowing six hits. The game, at Minneapolis, was called at the end of the sixth inning because of rain.

Indianapolis, ahead by four games, lost its second game in a row to St. Paul, 7-2 at St. Paul. Clem Labine pitched five-hit ball for the Saints, who exploded a five-run fourth inning for the decision. Elmer Riddle was the loser. The victory sent St. Paul into a tie for third place with idle Columbus.

Cellar dwelling Toledo came up for air in shading seventh-place Kansas City, 2-1, at Kansas City. Bill Barnacle's fourth inning home run made the difference.

Frank Shea, the ex-New York Yankee hurler, gave up only 3 hits for Kansas City but he was struck on the right wrist by a line drive in the fourth and had to leave the game. He'll be out about ten days.

PACING PARAPHERNALIA—With harness racing tracks multiplying throughout the country, you may also want to know about all that rigging worn by the more-fashionable pacers.

By Chet Hagan
NEA Special Correspondent

YONKERS, N. Y. — In baseball a player who has reached his 35th birthday is generally considered finished.

Boxing makes old men of competitors at 30. With few exceptions, football is a young man's game. But in harness horse racing, grandfathers are the stars—men of more than 60 and 70 continuing to drive the trotters and pacers to big purses.

There's Fred Egan, aged 70, who has won the famous Hambleton twice. Bron Shively, 67, is one of the best drivers around the Grand Circuit. Ben White, who has won more Hambletonians than any other driver—four—is 76, and he's got a horse entered in the 1950 Kentucky Derby of harness racing, Aug. 9. That's the pattern for harness horse drivers: age and experience in preference to youth and exuberance.

But at the nation's newest trotting track, the Yonkers raceway, a 23-year-old driver is upsetting tradition.

He's Stanley Dancer, a trainer and driver from New Egypt, N.

Gen. MacArthur Invites Commissioner to Japan

TOKYO, May 25.—(AP)—General MacArthur will invite baseball commissioner A. B. (Happy) Chandler to visit Japan this fall to see a non-professional series between the United States and Japan.

The announcement was made today by J. Taylor Spink, global commissioner of the National Baseball Congress. He is in Japan completing arrangements for the series.

If Chandler can't come Spink said, the invitation probably will go to Joe E. Brown, comedian and baseball enthusiast.

The U. S. will be represented in the series by the team which wins the national semi-pro tournament at Wichita, Kas., in August. The Japanese champs will be determined in an elimination tourney here.

The American-Japanese series is scheduled to open Sept. 9. Three games will be played in Tokyo, two in Osaka and the final two back in Tokyo. The winner of four games will be heralded "world's non-professional champions."

If the American team wins four straight, Spink said, it will play three more games with the best Japanese teams, professional or amateur.

Spink and Maj. Gen. William F. Marquat, chief of MacArthur's economic and scientific section, signed an agreement for the series this morning. Marquat also is baseball commissioner for Japan.

Marquat said about 700 non-professional Japanese teams will compete for the right to meet the American team. He added:

"We'll find out in the series whether Japan or the United States has the best amateur baseball—and I wouldn't bet against the Japanese."

No Score Changes Among Top Bowlers

COLUMBUS, Ohio, May 25.—(AP)—The Regal Pales of Los Angeles hit 2664 in the team division of the American Bowling Congress tournament last night—just short of moving into the spot among the leaders in that event.

The Regals made the best team score of the evening, however, with Max Gardens popping 623. Three other teams also fell short of moving into the top 10. There were no changes yesterday among the leaders of the various events.

Pepsi Cola, Detroit, holds the team lead with 2952.

Andy Vinnipac, pin-striker from Hempstead, N. Y., put up quite a struggle in his minor events, but the only game he had out of the nine that went over 200 was the opener in the team event. Then he had 235-185-172 for 592. He wound up with 503 in the doubles and 531 in the singles. His scores add up to 1626—dropping his 10-year ABC average to 203-86 down to 201-51.

Best singles yesterday was 661 by Jimmy Petrou of Akron, Ohio, a pair from Wheeling, W. Va., Nick Milonovich and Frank Stauffer, had high in doubles—1226.

May Hit Dad's Purse Harder

Prices Mount on Many Cost of Living Items

NEW YORK, May 25.—(AP)—The happy tune that most business men are whistling, pleasant as it is, has a little undertone in a minor key. An even greater drain on Dad's pocketbook seems likely in the weeks ahead.

Prices on many of the cost of living items are being revised upwards, hand in hand with the business boom. Tight supplies and increasing demand have led producers to hike prices. Some of the increased buying may be due to fear of further inflation, but much of it appears based on meeting present need. And that leads many to believe that the price rise will continue.

Many foods are going up, in spite of the large surpluses left over from last year. Livestock and grain prices have been climbing. Wholesale prices tend higher. And cantankerous weather dims the prospects for seasonal supplies of fresh fruits and vegetables cutting the total cost of the market basket this summer.

Hog and pork prices are expected to reach a peak late in the summer. Cattle and beef prices may not start to drop before early fall. Lamb prices are expected by most observers to stay high, because of short supplies, during the rest of the year.

Cut Fruit Crop
A bad spring, with late freezes, cut heavily into the fruit crop. Apples and citrus prices may not rise, but you may have to pay more this summer and fall for peaches, pears, plums, cherries, prunes and grapes.

Sugar prices may go up shortly, too, just as the canning season starts. Raw sugar costs have gone up some and some eastern refiners are talking of booting the refined price accordingly.

More homes are going up than ever before, but so is the cost of building them. House prices turned soft a year ago, but are on the way up again, builders say. They blame higher material costs—lumber and metals have been going up steadily this spring—and increased costs.

Rents have been climbing slowly but steadily. Controls have been dropped in many areas, and seem due to be relaxed or ended in others. The building boom hasn't yet reached the point where a glut of houses will cut the demand for rental units.

Apparel sales continue slow, and bargains are offered. But record high wool prices dampen hopes for cheaper all-wool suits, although competition from synthetic fabric hold prices in check.

Darst Says Smith 'Is Not The State'

ST. LOUIS, May 25.—(AP)—A cross-fire of words between Gov. Forrest Smith and Mayor Joseph M. Darst grew hotter today with the mayor saying "This guy (Smith) is not the State of Missouri."

In the background is an insistence by Darst that the Governor call a special session of the legislature to give this city's earnings tax a new chance for renewal. The Governor refused, with increasing emphasis, and so the city has a financial crisis.

The city needs legislative authority to levy the earnings tax on people who make their living in St. Louis, whether they live in the city or not.

Darst is a Democrat, like Smith, and the issue marks a break in party ranks.

In commenting today about his of Oklahoma City, and flattened several buildings.

latest letter from the Governor, Darst said Smith's refusal to call the session is "the big mistake of his career."

Darst has pleaded for the special session as the only hope of averting a financial crisis in the city government here. The tax, one of the city's biggest revenue producers, will die July 17 without the necessary enabling legislation.

"He is willfully and knowingly assuming the whole responsibility for not calling a special session and blocking this needed legislation," Darst said.

Despite the crude surveying instruments of the 1760s, the Mason-Dixon line was eventually found to be only 180 feet off.

Returns From Auto Tour And Visit to Coast

Mrs. Fred Kueck of 1406 West Fourth street has returned from an extended motor trip to the west coast. She accompanied her nephew Richard Smith and visited her sister Mrs. C. M. Smith at El Monte and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith of Duarte, Calif., and other friends and relatives. Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Olendorff of Alhambra and Miss Edna Taylor of San Diego, former Sedalians, entertained Mrs. Kueck. While in Southern California she visited Tia Juana, Mexico, seeing the famous pines and other things of interest in that country.

She enjoyed a Warner Bros. movie tour and saw "Queen For a Day" and many elaborate homes of movie stars. At Temple City she witnessed the great Camellia Parade of floral floats, each representing a fairy story. The Seven Dwarfs took first prize. An unusual experience was a trip by glass submarine, that was lowered to the ocean floor and many sea fish, plants and shells were visible.

At St. Gabriel Mrs. Kueck saw many historic missions and churches and at Glendale she toured Forest Lawn church with its towers, legends, flowers and lovely landscaping. It contains a recreation of Leonardo Devinci's "Last Supper." The stained glass window is so placed that the sun shines constantly upon it, thus enhancing the wonder of the window.

Catlin Island, reached by a large steamer, presented a view of the world's largest man made harbor in the world with its coves and beaches, all of interest to the traveler. Among other things Mrs. Kueck visited all of the beaches of California. The Marine Gardens and a trip on the glass bottomed boat was enjoyed and especially the bird park where thousands of beautiful birds from all over the world are to be seen. Hundreds of seals disported themselves on the Seal Rocks off the Cliff House in San Francisco. They are protected by the government.

Many Places of Interest
At the Knotts Berry and Crafts Farms at Buena Park, Mrs. Kueck took the "Covered Wagon Trail" through the famous park with stops at the Gift Shop, the Square Dance Center and to the Bamboo Chopsticks restaurant for a Chinese dinner. The Oriental Tea Garden at Golden Gate Park where the rhododendrons and other gorgeous flowers were in full bloom, was especially interesting to Mrs. Kueck, who cultivates flowers in profusion. The street vendors of flowers made the streets and avenues a variety of colors. At Sacramento she visited Lake Tahoe, famous for its skiing sports and of which Mark Twain is reputed to have said: "This is the most beautiful lake in the world."

Maiden Lane in San Francisco was an unforgettable sight on March 30 in its floral robes celebrating three days of the annual festival "Spring Comes to Maiden Lane." For two blocks thousands of leis of rainbow colored blossoms formed a tall festoon ceiling under which pedestrians walked and enjoyed the international flavor as native costumed girls representing all the nations dispensed bright yellow daffodils to visitors. Two hundred thousand daffodils were flown from Oregon to augment San Francisco's supply. The streets were decorated with thousands of flowers in flower boxes.

At El Monte was seen on display a wonderful mother-of-pearl reproduction of the "Last Supper" that attracted thousands of visitors. This was an intricate work of art made by a native of Palestine, who lived near the birthplace of The Christ. It took him five years to make this picture by matching thousands of mother-of-pearls. Its beauty was enhanced by changing light effects.

A former Sedalian, who has made good in the musical world, is Andy Kostelas of Freddie Martin's orchestra. Kostelas plays the saxophone and the clarinet and sings over the radio. Martin's orchestra was playing in the St. Francis hotel in San Francisco, while Mrs. Kueck was visiting at the home of another former Sedalian, Mrs. Sam Potter, who will be remembered by many Sedalians as Miss Aurelia McGrunder, daughter of the late Mark McGrunder, a practicing lawyer here for many years.

While in El Monte Mrs. Kueck was interviewed by the San Gabriel Valley Bulletin newspaper and a nice story of the Sedalia visitor was printed in that newspaper. She brought home many souvenirs and ideas of floriculture books and pamphlets, pictures and special arrangements of flowers.

Striped College Club Dinner

Champion Striped College Club met May 19, at the home of Mrs. Kurman Riey, with Mrs. Harvey Fisher, Mrs. G. A. Cox and Mrs. Fred Staley as assistant hostesses. A covered dish dinner was served at the noon hour to 22 members, six children and one guest, Miss Lillian Watkins. Mrs. Ernest Biggs opened the

Basket Dinner By 4-H Clubs

The Bunker Hill and Pacific 4-H clubs had their Rural Life Sunday at the Cole Camp park May 21st. They attended the American Lutheran church in the morning. At noon a basket dinner was served.

After the noon hour the program was presented. The Club pledge and the pledge of allegiance to the flag was recited by all. A song, "America the Beautiful" and "America" were sung by the club members.

A reading, by Roland Oelrichs, the 23rd psalm. After the program a ball game was played at the ball diamond.

These were present: Leonard Burton, Joyce Ives, Robert Lyman and Orlyn Brauer, Glenna Fern Meisner, Delores Junior, Richard Goss, Raymond Eugene Roland, Fern and El Vera Oelrichs, Ruby Lee and Marvin Vajen, Vern Deen Schlesselman, Ralph Virgie, Marion Lemler, Mr. and Mrs. Miles Ives, Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Brauer, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Oelrichs, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Meisner, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Vajen, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lemler, Mr. and Mrs. Grover Oelrichs and Thomas Ives.

Here Comes the Bride

Her Ring Stems From Symbol of Eternity

Ring is symbol of ownership.

By Virginia Nelle Wilson
Written for NEA Service

"With this ring I thee wed" echoes back from the marriage rites of many ages and many lands.

The ring, long a symbol of ownership and authority, found its way into the marriage ceremony in ancient Egypt. It signifies the everlasting union of a man and woman, stemming from the symbol of eternity, the circle.

Through the centuries many changes in the styles of wedding rings have taken place. The most ornate designs, in the early Hebrew days were so large and heavy that they were worn only during marriage service.

Perhaps the most romantic were the "Posey" rings, carved with flowers and long and sentimental phrases. Like these medieval rings, many of our modern wedding bands are carved into circles of tiny orange blossoms. The orange blossom, the bride's flower of the Saracens, was brought back to Europe by the Crusaders. Its symbol of fertility and good luck springs from the uniqueness of the tree's blooming and bearing fruit at the same time.

From the early Egyptians and Romans came the custom of wearing the wedding ring upon the third finger of the left hand. They believed that a "love vein" ran from the heart to that finger. The left hand is symbolic of the wife's submission to her husband. Some historians claim the ring is a relic of the fetters which shackled a bride during the ancient times, when it was customary for a young man to capture his mate from a neighboring village.

The era of marriage by capture is the basis for much of our modern wedding ceremony. The best man represents the strong friend who went along to help steal a maiden. The ushers and bridesmaids are reminders of friends and relatives who fought for or against her capture. The honeymoon is the period of hiding the bride from her searching relatives. During this month, or moon, the hiding couple drank a special wine made of honey, mead.

When the bride's father answers the question, "Who gives this woman?" he is re-enacting the selling of his daughter during the period of marriage by purchase. This custom of bride buying prevailed during the Middle Ages, until the great rise of Christianity made marriage a religious ceremony instead of a legal contract. Our very word "wedding" comes from the early Teuton "bevedung," the money or property which a man gave as his pledge to pay for his future wife.

Veil has replaced the garland.

How modern are our modern weddings?

Today's bride walks to the altar down an aisle of petals just as the medieval bride walked on a path of grain scattered by two small girls carrying garlands of wheat. The symbolism of happiness and insured fertility did not change when wheat was replaced by flowers in the late 17th century.

Flowers always have been important in a wedding. At one time a garland for the bride's head was known as the "coronet of the good girl." The misty veil which replaced that garland is the symbol of the wife's submission to her husband.

The covering of the bride until after the marriage rite was, and still is, a strictly followed custom in many lands, especially the Far East. From this tradition comes the superstition that ill-luck will befall the bride if her groom sees her on her wedding day, before the ceremony.

Since white has been sacred to many people, both civilized and barbaric, it has become the bride's color throughout most of the world. To the ancient Greeks and Romans it was the symbol of joy and purity, thus the appropriate color for marriage garments.

The words of the old couplet, "Something old and something new, something borrowed and something blue," are relics of the ancient Israelite marriage ritual in which the bride was demanded to wear blue ribbons upon her shoulders as proof of her love, fidelity and purity.

The use of ribbons and knots in the wedding has been popular in other lands also. The early Anglo-Saxon bride gave to her friends bits of knotted ribbon as symbols of faith and the inseparable ties of love and duty in marriage. Today the boutonnières and the bouquets of the bridal attendants, as well as the shower of ribbons flowing from our bride's own bouquet, are reminders of this early custom.

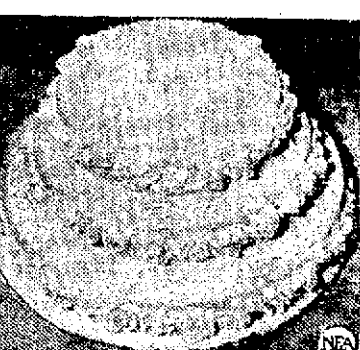

The tossing of the bridal bouquet is another remnant of the past. During the 14th century in France, securing the bride's garter guaranteed a future marriage. Even though the bride left one garter dangling conveniently about her ankle, an over-enthusiastic group of girls were capable of giving her a severe beating.

During the next century the garter grabbing lost favor and was replaced by the stocking throwing. But since a stocking is not the most easily removed piece of wearing apparel, the bride usually became the center of a tussle. One wise girl, wishing to save herself a mauling, swiftly tossed her bouquet.

BUNNY BANQUET—Carrots appeared on the menu for the first time for these eight orphan bunnies, born seconds after their mother was killed by an auto. Mrs. Howard Moore of Denver, Colo., who took the youngsters in and nursed them to carrot-size with an eyedropper, is giving a milk ration to Runny-Bunny, who snubbed the carrots.

quiet into the surprised group gathered about her. Other girls followed her example, and a new custom began.

Cake is evidence of sharing.

When we shower a newly married couple with rice we are saying we hope they will have many children.

Grain always has been the symbol of fruitfulness and the throwing of grain in wedding rites has been a universal custom, appearing in every age and every land throughout the world.

It is believed that some type of marriage has existed from the beginning of time. At first there was no ceremony to the taking of a mate. Gradually the tribal rites devised magical rituals such as the throwing of grain and the entwining of a rope about the waist of a woman by a man. It was believed that her spirit entered his body, joining them together forever.

Through the ages more religious and man-made rites and customs were added to those simple ones. The throwing of old shoes after the fleeing couple reflects the ancient Hebrew and Egyptian tradition of exchanging sandals while changing authority. The Anglo-Saxon wedding concluded with the father giving a shoe of the bride to the new husband as proof that he had relinquished all rights over her.

One of the simplest and most universal of all marriage ceremonies is that of eating and drinking together. Early Hebrew and Roman rituals finished in this manner. Today we follow that old custom when the bride and groom cuts and shares the first piece of wedding cake together as evidence that they wish to share from that day forth.

The wedding cake is a direct survival of the Roman ceremony during which all guests ate cake to insure plentifulness for the bride and groom. At the early Anglo-Saxon wedding the guest brought richly spiced buns and piled them in a huge mound on the table. If the bride and groom succeeded in kissing over this mound they were assured lifelong prosperity.

While stopping in London a French chef noted the difficulty of piling hundreds of these small cakes together, so he conceived the idea of icing them into a solid mass. Thus our tiered wedding cake was born.

The giving of wedding gifts is a remnant of the days when bride purchase still prevailed. During the latter part of that period it was the custom for a father to give properties or goods to his daughters with which to start housekeeping.

A lovely young girl in Holland was denied her dowry because a young miller could not pay the price demanded for her. The whole community loved this couple and showered them with fine gifts for their new home. Thus because a young miller could not pay the purchase price for his bride, the brides of this month, and all the months to come, will receive showers of lovely presents.

THE WHOLE STORY ABOUT HALF HAMS

A&P's "Super Right" Half Hams Have No Center Slices Removed...You Get Full Value!

HERE'S HOW A&P SELLS HAMS WEIGHING LESS THAN 16 LBS.

We say a HALF HAM means a ham CUT IN TWO, with no center slices taken out. That's just what you get at A&P. And that's something to remember when you compare half-ham prices.

AND HERE'S HOW A&P SELLS HAMS WEIGHING 16 TO 20 POUNDS

We cut 16 to 20 pound hams so that average families can take advantage of the extra value offered. (See picture below.) A&P does not handle hams weighing over 20 pounds, because the meat is apt to be coarse and tough.

Spaghetti with Meat Balls
Broadcast: May 27, 1950

1 lb. ground beef
1/4 cup rolled oats
1/2 cup Pet Milk
1/2 cup finely cut onion
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon paprika

3 tablespoons hot shortening
1 can condensed tomato soup
1 1/2 cups water
4 1/2 cups hot, cooked spaghetti
1/4 cup dry, grated cheese

Mix thoroughly meat, oats, milk, 1/4 cup onion, 1 teaspoon salt and 1/4 teaspoon pepper. Shape in 16 balls. Roll in mixture of flour and paprika. Brown in hot shortening. Drain off fat; pour over meat balls a mixture of soup, water, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper and remaining 1/4 cup onion. SO GOOD you can get a bright, clean wash even WITHOUT RINSING!

It's true! CHEER can give you a sweet, clean wash even without rinsing. Because CHEER holds dirt. So, when you wring out the suds—away goes the dirt. You get the cleanest possible wash any "no rinse" suds can offer!

But if you do rinse, CHEER's your best bet for a cleaner wash than you'll get with any soap—any other type of washing product.

SO GOOD you get a firm-free wash EVEN IN HARDEST WATER!

CHEER suds come up thick and fast in water so hard the best soaps known give up the ghost. Leaves no sticky scum—in fact, CHEER removes the dulling film left on clothes by soap. You never need a water softener with CHEER!

SO GOOD you get a spanking-clean wash EVEN WHEN HOT WATER RUNS LOW!

The hotter the water, the better the wash. But when the hot water runs low, CHEER won't let you down. Sturdy CHEER suds stand right up and go on fighting dirt and grease. Whatever the temperature, CHEER will give you a cleaner wash than any soap in the world will at the same temperature.

Try cheer once...and you'll cheer forever!

Threatened Red 'Invasion' of West Berlin May 28 Now Seen as Unlikely Unless Russians Want War

PREVIEW OF MAY 28: Arms they didn't have to use are passed out to men of the U. S. 16th Constabulary force in Berlin as preparedness against disorders during rival Communist and anti-Communist demonstration on May 1. Allied forces will be armed again for the Red "invasion" threatened for May 28.

By LEON DENNEN and DAVID S. BOYER

BERLIN—(NEA)—Although Berlin remains a tense and beleaguered city, there now seems little likelihood that the much-heralded "invasion" of the western sectors by 500,000 Communist youth will take place on May 28. Non-Red Berlin is ready for such a show-down. But it has already won the opening skirmish hands-down in the May 1 demonstration which was beyond all western hopes as a test of comparative forces.

Competent observers who are intimately familiar with the East-West relations in this strife-torn city are convinced the Russians suffered a serious setback on May Day. On that normally Red holiday, inhabitants of Berlin's Russian sector streamed through the tightly-guarded barriers to join West Berliners in their protest of the Soviet occupation.

The danger of a Red Whit-sun-tide remains. But at the moment, it seems to hinge on whether or not the Russians want war on May 28. Ernst Reuter, the fighting Socialist mayor of West Berlin, told NEA Service that unless they do, the Soviet chances of seizing the western sectors on May 28 are little better than they were on May 1.

An attempt to seize West Berlin would put the Communist forces in direct opposition to the feelings shown by Berliners on May Day.

"We may yet have to protect the invaders," said Mayor Reuter, "just as the Allied military police had to protect the Soviet soldiers guarding their own monument."

Should the invasion come in all its heralded strength, the western sectors will probably meet it by combining tactics proposed by two current schools of thought.

One of these, in effect, says: "Don't allow a single platoon of the so-called 'Free German Youth' across the border; throw in the people, the police and the military; let them know we can't be intimidated."

The other says: "Let's welcome them with open arms and show them what freedom is like; wine and dine them; give them free tickets to western movies; let them buy food and clothes in our unrated shops. Let them see what 'Free German Youth' really are."

Whatever the defense, it will not be aimed at blocking the Communist youth at the sector borders, which is a virtual impossibility. There are more than 100 miles of border, and infiltration by subway and underground trains would be difficult to block, since the trains are operated by the Soviet sector Germans.

American, British and French military forces are committed to help the West Berliners if they need it. They hope it won't be necessary, since Western uniforms clashing with Communist youth would feed the Russian propaganda machine.

West Berlin's first defense will be to keep the young German Communists from gathering in groups strong enough to overpower the West's 10,000 German police.

If that defense doesn't work, Allied units in Berlin have been trained in mob-control and equipped with special weapons to go into action the minute West Berlin police blow the whistle for help.

Berliners themselves are less worried than the Allies. For one thing, they count on the acute shortage of food, gasoline, trucks and billets in East Berlin as a distinct handicap to moving an "invasion" force of 500,000 youths.

They are counting also on the West Berlin radio, which has been beaming program after program to the eastern sectors describing May 28 as a Communist plan to lure youth to Berlin for a "peaceful demonstration" that would end in bloody battle.

And they are depending on their own counter-attack to backfire on the Reds. Carnivals, sports events and other free or cheap entertainment now being planned may show the Communist youth how much better life is in West Berlin, the defenders feel.

Whichever way the Red tide comes on May 28—peacefully or looking for a fight—West Berlin will be ready. Unless the Russians are prepared to backup the Communist youth with armed power, which could spell war, Whit-sun-tide probably will be as victorious for the West as May Day.

SPRING FEVER? Here's the never-failing cure — a Buick Super Convertible with that brilliant new power plant, the Fireballing F-263.

That's where the real fun is. Where the land stretches free to the beckoning horizon, where the air is clear of city smoke and the highway's fumes, where a man and his family can really enjoy the pleasure a car can give.

"But the roads," you say, "— aren't they pretty rough?" They don't have to be paved to be pleasant. Not to a Buick owner.

For here you've a car gifted with the special gentleness of soft coil springing all around. A car steady-keeled with a massive frame and rigid torque-tube.

A car that quicksteps silkily over washboards and rutty gravel, gives wavy black-top a fluent buoyancy that dresses each mile in rest and relaxation.

Even your mighty power plant — cradled against vibration and filtering its surge through Dynaflo Drive's* liquid cushioning if you like — even this is part of the picture.

A part of the special feel of riding in a Buick — a feel we do not think is equaled anywhere else on the highway.

But why just go by that? As close as your Buick dealer there's a SPECIAL, a SUPER or a ROADMASTER that's itching to tell its own story — without any obligation on your part.

Go try it — over the boulevards and out beyond them. Then price it. We're sure where you'll spend the summer — having the time of your life in a Buick!

Only BUICK has Dynaflo — and with it goes! HIGHER-COMPRESSION Fireball valve-in-head power in three engines. (New F-263 engine in SUPER models.) • NEW-PATTERN STYLING, with MULTI-GUARD fender, taper-through fender, "double bubble" taillights • WIDE-ANGLE VISIBILITY, close-up road view both forward and back • TRAFFIC-HANDY SIZE, less over-all length for easier parking and garaging, short turning radius • EXTRA-WIDE SEATS cradled between the axles • SOFT BUICK RIDE, from off-coil springing, Safety-Ride rims, low-pressure tires, ride-steadying torque-tube • WIDE ARRAY OF MODELS with Body by Fisher.

Play Presented at Jefferson School

The Jefferson school held its promotion exercises for the seventh grade at the regular May meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association.

The combined sixth and seventh grade chorus sang three numbers under the direction of E. T. Martin.

The seventh grade presented a play entitled "Happy School Days," which told of the many trials of a school principal played by Garnett Walters.

The business meeting was presided over by the president, Mrs. Charles Poynter. The association voted for $25.00 for the summer playground project. The retiring president, Mrs. Raymond Schultz, was presented a lamp by the group and they also presented Mr. Martin with a cigarette lighter.

Room count awards went to the seventh grade.

The address for the evening was given by Miss Hazel Palmer, who stressed the importance of continuing on to high school and higher education.

Mr. Martin presented certificates to 32 graduates with top honors going to Mary Ellison.

Community News from California

Mrs. Harold Pries

A low blue ceiling softly lighted from above and flickering candles below, shrubbery on three sides and a castle at the far end formed a fairyland like setting for the Cinderella's Ball which was the theme of the Junior-Senior Prom held in the California high school gymnasium Friday night, May 12. The students danced to the music of Frank Ovaritte's orchestra. The senior class colors of rose and silver were used on the dance programs and the napkins. During the intermission strawberry ice cream, cake, mints and punch were served by the sophomore waiters and waitresses. Entertainment was furnished by the sixth graders who presented the Cinderella story in pantomime. Donna Lou Simmons was the narrator with Martha Kitchell as Cinderella, Jerry Coale, prince; Mary Copas, stepmother; Shirley Brizendine and Lula Hale, stepisters; Joan Dale, fairy godmother; Deanie Jobe, Duke; J. David Gattermeier, Herald; Wesley Drake, footman; J. H. Tising, Charles Ray Ehlert, Jim Shores and Donald Ranum, horses. Background music was furnished by Frank Sullivan who also accompanied Patsy Hackney and Sue Kiesling who sang "Bibbidi-Bobbidi-Boo"; Doris Friedmeyer, Donna Pope, Jack Haldiman and Louis Bestgen who sang "A Dream is a Wish Your Heart Makes" and the freshman quartet, Billy Kay, Franklin Sullivan, Bob Dickson and John Berry, who sang "By the Light of the Silvery Moon. The evening was climaxed by finding the girl from the senior class who could wear the glass slipper. Miss Jane Haub was proclaimed Cinderella and given the glass slipper.

The Rev. Paul E. Schoppe, pastor of the Evangelical and Reformed church delivered the baccalaureate sermon to the 1950 senior candidates for graduation at the California high school auditorium at 8:00 o'clock Sunday night, May 14. "It is more blessed to give than to receive" was the theme of his address. The high school band played "March Pontifical" by Gounod as the processional and "Onward Christian Soldiers" for the recessional. The Rev. Louis W. Drake of the Presbyterian church gave the invocation followed by two numbers by the girls' choir, "Angels Ever Bright and Fair," Handel and "Ave Maria," Arcadelt. After the scripture reading by the Rev. Drake, Gene Farkham sang "Prayer Perfect" by Stenson. A mixed quartet composed of Emma Albertin, Shirley Bolin, Roy Frank Senior, Jr., and Frank Sullivan sang: "We Thank Thee Lord," preceding the Rev. Schoppe's address. The Rev. M. L. Jeffers of the Christian church pronounced the benediction. Shirley Peters was the ac-

companion. Ushers were: Mary Ann Tegomeyer, Betty Scherrf, Henrietta Dalstein, Virginia Herman, Dorothy Hallford, May Bolinger, Shirley Bower, Lloyd Cassidy, Roland Knogge, Edward Kaiser, Boyd Wolftrum, Ronald Oesterly, Marvin Wells and Billy

Maier, all members of the junior class.

Dr. G. W. Diemer, president of the Central Missouri State college at Warrensburg, delivered the address to the forty-one seniors at the sixty-third annual commencement of the California high school Thursday night, May 18. He was introduced by Dr. George Riley, superintendent of the school. The program began at 8:00 o'clock in the high school auditorium. The high school band played "Pomp and Circumstance" by Elgar as the processional and recessional. The Rev. James Heisner, pastor of the First Baptist church gave the invocation. Musical numbers on the program were "Beautiful Savior" by Christiansen and "Wake Thee Now Dearest" by Deems Taylor, sung by a mixed chorus. Miss June Haub played a French horn solo, "After Sunset" by Pryor and a sextette of girls sang: "The Night Has a Thousand Eyes." The girls were: Norma Maldiman, Virginia Maness, June Haub, Rose Marie Reichel, Betty Laue and Millie Bailey. Accompanists were Doris Friedmeyer and Shirley Peters. Dr. Riley presented the senior class and W. H. Dickson, president of the California board of education presented the diplomas. Members of the junior class who served as ushers were: Betty Scott, Frances Kirchoff, Glyndon Harlan, Shirley Burkhalter, Lois Less, Loren Hill, Marilyn Haldiman, James Bryant, Jean Kirchoff, Len Gene Elliott, Joe Chambers, Leroy Hays, Carl Keuster and Gerald Bolinger.

Mrs. Marvin Crawford was hostess to the last Homemakers Extension club last Friday afternoon. Mrs. J. R. Proctor and Miss Lillian Westmeyer were guests and Mrs. Bob McCombs and Mrs. Elsie McDaniels were welcomed as new members. Roll call was answered by "Mistakes I Make Often." Mrs. Wayne Silvey was the program leader. Mrs. Dorsey Barry will be the hostess June 9. Forty-three students from Stephens college in Columbia made a tour of the Moniteau Mills Wednesday afternoon. About two hundred students including groups from Washington university in St. Louis and the University of Missouri have visited the mills this spring to get a first hand look at the manufacturing of textiles and information on textile merchandising. The Moniteau Mills is the only woolen mill in Missouri. Mrs. William Todd was hostess to the members of her Triple Tri Bridge club last Tuesday afternoon. Additional guests were Mrs. C. Edgar Ritchie, Mrs. Earl Simpson, Mrs. Robert Bogge, Mrs. L.

Sheer Styles Go to the Altar

For the summer bride, wedding gowns are softly styled in sheer fabrics. Airy rayon marquisette gives delicate charm to the gown (left) which has a full train. Shirred bands of marquisette with lace applique frame the shoulders and curve to form a panier effect at the sides of the skirt. Short, bouffant dress (center) which clears the floor by eight inches is made of embroidered Swiss organdy over a rustling taffeta slip. The embroidery borders the full skirt and bands the gathered fichu collar. A long train floats from the full, hooped skirt of the formal organdy gown (right). Loose-petaled flowers are embroidered on the snug bodice.

A. Fallen, Kansas City and Mrs. A. G. Meyer, Valparaiso, Ind. Score favors went to Mrs. Hoogs and Mrs. W. S. Lemen.

Latham hospital notes: A son born to Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Ashley, Clarksburg, May 13. Daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Asa Yows, Eldon, May 13.

America's ice companies have a combined capital investment of nearly one billion dollars.

Approximately 150,000 people are employed to supply ice for the U. S. every summer.

Colorful Blazers Flag Attention

NEW YORK — Red, white and blue jackets flag attention to ultra simple classic summer styles. The blazer-striped cardigan makes a snappy topper for the white spun rayon dress (left) of Jules Furst design. The blazer is of a crisp washable rayon. Shiny gold buttons fasten the front. Dress has a halter neckline and a deep inverted front pleat. Pepping up the navy blue pique dress (right) is a tiny shoulder sweater of striped knitted cotton. Dolman sleeves are elbow length. One button fastens the sweater under the Peter Pan collar of the dress.—Kay Sherwood, NEA Staff Writer.

Green Ridge will leave on Sunday morning, May 21, for St. Louis, where as delegates the Rebekah State Assembly of Missouri I. O. O. F. which will be held at the Jefferson Hotel in that city. The convention starts on Monday and will end on Wednesday. Mrs.

Oswald represents the Windsor, Calhoun and Clinton district and Mrs. Palmer represents the Holden, Warrensburg, Knobnoster, La Monte and Green Ridge district.

The Green Ridge schools closed on Friday with a basket dinner sponsored by the Green Ridge P.T.A. The senior class presented a program after the dinner was served.

Johnny White, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry White of Green Ridge, was injured last week while playing softball on the school grounds. He had the misfortune of falling and breaking his ankle. He was taken to the Bothwell Hospital for treatment and from there to a hospital in Kansas City.

Emory Brown left last Wednesday for Wadsworth, Kans., where he entered the Veterans Administration hospital for treatment. His brother, Eldon Brown, of Beaver, Oklahoma, and Warren George of Green Ridge accompanied him to Wadsworth.

Pete Billings of the Green Ridge community left last Thursday for the Veterans Administration hospital at Wadsworth, Kansas, where he was to receive a physical examination and treatment.

A daily vacation Bible school is being held at the Green Ridge Presbyterian church. It started on Monday morning, May 22, at nine o'clock, with Mrs. Mattie Myers as superintendent.

Killed by Lightning In a Thunderstorm

KANSAS CITY, May 24—(P)—Mrs. Margaret Giersch, a housewife, was killed today by a bolt of lightning as she was caught by a thunderstorm.

Her son, Ronnie, 6, who was walking with her, was stunned and hurled to the sidewalk by the bolt. The wooden handle of the umbrella she was carrying was shattered by the bolt, but the cloth top was not damaged.

Vice President Barkley Accomplishes the Impossible In Speechmaking

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON.—Top-drawer Democrats were not happy when they got to Chicago and discovered the manner in which a quarter of a million dollars had been raised to welcome President Truman to Chicago.

First, a ruling was obtained from the Internal Revenue Bureau that donations to the host committee were a charity gift and tax deductible. Chicago, it was argued, was playing host to the President regardless of politics.

Having secured this, local Democrats mailed a copy of the Internal Revenue ruling to prospective donors with an appeal for funds. And in the same letter, believe it or not, they inserted the schedule of Democratic political activities.

When George Killian, ex-treasurer of the Democratic national committee, arrived in Chicago, he showed the nonpolitical appeal for tax-deductible funds, with the Democratic even's schedule to Chairman Bill Boyle.

"That fool Nate Lichtblau," growled Killian. "It's the first I knew about it," remarked the worried Boyle.

Later, he reported the whole matter to President Truman.

NOTE.—The Chicago Daily News and ex-Congressman Everett Dirksen, GOP candidate for the Senate, made the most of Democratic red faces and of the huge amounts of money contributed by the liquor interests to the Truman reception.

Rough-and-Tumble Veep

You can't beat Alben Barkley when it comes to rough-and-tumble debate or after-dinner speeches.

The other day in Chicago, Barkley pulled a near-miracle. The occasion was the big Democratic rally honoring Thomas Jefferson just before President Truman arrived from the west. The dinner was poorly handled. The toastmaster forgot to introduce Postmaster General Donaldson and Secretary of the Navy Matthews. Jack Arvey staged a show of dancing girls from Chez Paree, while in contrast motherly Congresswoman Mary Norton of New Jersey droned out a 30-minute speech.

By this time it was nearly midnight, the honor-guest table was almost empty, and the audience was ready to go home. But Barkley was still to be heard from.

Most speakers would have been too discouraged to start. But the vice president got to the point of what other speakers had ignored—the real story of Thomas Jefferson. He described the details of his life, his influence on the nation, and did it in such a way that the tired and milling audience actually listened.

Absent Congressman

This column, leaning backward to Congressman Thurmond Chatham of North Carolina, recently explained his prolonged absence record from Congress by the fact that his wife had passed away 10 months ago and he had not been able to concentrate on his work.

That explanation may have been overly generous. Since then, it has been learned that Congressman Chatham's absence has been partly due to house parties at his Currituck Sound cottage.

Two weeks ago, furthermore, he brought Mrs. John T. Barnes, Jr., wife of a Reynolds tobacco official, to the Baptist hospital at Winston-Salem at 2:30 a.m., May 8, with a severe gash at the base of her skull. Mrs. Barnes, 35 years old and a prominent socialite, was suffering from loss of blood. Mr. Barnes arrived at the hospital at 5 a.m.

Hospital authorities, nurses and internes flatly refused to discuss the incident, but Congressman Chatham, when queried, said that Mrs. Barnes had been dining, with others, on his terrace, had caught her dress in a chair and fallen, hitting her head against a marble wall.

We are delighted to accept the Congressman's story, but it should also be noted that his prolonged absences from Congress apparently are not entirely due to the loss of his wife.

Merry-Go-Round

Secretary of State Acheson is so tired following his London conferences that he cabled the State Department that he is not to be disturbed on the voyage home—no matter how many speeches Senator McCarthy makes about him.

Francis Pickens Miller, the Byrd machine's sworn foe in Virginia, tossed a real hot potato at Sen. Harry Byrd. He proposed a Virginia state "committee on reduction of nonessential expenses." Senator Byrd uses his chairmanship of a similar committee in Congress to fire shots at the administration, but no such probe of padded payrolls in Byrd-controlled Virginia has ever been dared before. . . . Another hot fight between right and left wings of the GOP is on in North Dakota. Frank Vogel, a campaign manager for "Old Bob" La Follette's presidential campaign in 1924, is running for governor.

Professor Harold Urey, famed atomic scientist from the University of Chicago, is slated to be director of the new science foundation. . . . Landlords have been getting such bad publicity over high rents that the Norfolk, Va., real estate board appointed a 22-man committee to keep rents down. Instead of curbing rents, however, nine of the committee members, them-seives, boosted rents from 27 to 100 per cent. The nine men who were supposed to hold rents down but increased their own rents are: Ludwell Baldwin, Walter Bott, Clifton Cauncill, Ralph Drewery, M. Etheridge, Robert Koolage, William Kutz, Lawrence Page and C. V. W. Trice. "Driver of the Year"

Lloyd Reinsner, 37-year-old truck driver of Indianapolis, was as cool and collected as you would expect the "driver of the year" to be when he was congratulated by President Truman for his highway safety feats.

Truman himself seemed to get a bigger thrill than the truck driver as Reinsner told of saving a little girl's life on a highway near Louisville, Ky.

"Our highways are becoming safer every year," remarked Truman, "and we have men like you to thank for it."

Before departing, Reinsner got a prized presidential autograph for a nine-year-old Indianapolis neighbor, John Truman Harmon—no relation to the President.

"You're making a lifelong Democrat out of this boy," grinned Reinsner as Truman inscribed a personal card for the youngster.

"With a second name like that, he ought to be," quipped the President.

Japan Could be Southeast Asia's 'Arsenal of Democracy'

By Bruce Blossat

The United States has already committed itself to giving both military and economic aid to Indo-China, hottest spot in the Communists' campaign to engulf all of Southeast Asia.

Insofar as this signals a new and positive element in our Far Eastern policy, it's good news. All of Asia had been waiting to see whether we would take a stand in Indo-China. Now it has the answer.

But the decision is bad news in another respect. It means the handing out of more millions of dollars at a time when we are pouring billions into Europe and other billions into record peacetime defense expenditures.

Apparently Indo-China will get only about $15,000,000 from us at the start. But more will probably have to be granted if the Red drive is to be effectively smashed. And other countries in Southeast Asia also may need millions.

Because of this dismal prospect, Americans must welcome the fresh note of hope injected into the Asiatic picture by John Strohm, a special correspondent for NEA who has just completed an extended survey of the whole region. Strohm, who distinguished himself by his perceptive first-hand reporting in 1946 of life behind the Russian Iron Curtain, concludes that there is a way to get Southeast Asia on its own feet and off the U. S. taxpayer's back.

The key to that happy outcome is Japan. Recasting itself in the democratic mold, Japan is ready and eager to take a leading—but not domineering—role in the economic salvation of Southeast Asia.

Japan fits naturally into the region's trade orbit. It has impressive industrial capacity and know-how; it can produce the machines and manufactured goods the other Asiatic nations need to lift themselves out of the mire of poverty.

In turn, these countries have the food and raw materials Japan requires to live. The Japanese, for example, must import a fourth of their foodstuffs.

Tying these lands into a trade sphere with industrial Japan would create a desired balance of markets and supply areas. It would build economic self-sufficiency in a region that is already—or soon will be—heavily dependent on the U. S. for economic survival. Japan costs us $500,000,000 a year right now, and not long back we loaned Indonesia $100,000,000.

Strohm talked to General MacArthur in Tokyo. He conferred with many other high U. S. and western officials in the Far East. MacArthur and his top specialists believe firmly in a new destiny for Japan as the industrial dynamo of the Southeast.

We at home can only hope that their faith is not misplaced. The possibility of getting any sizable part of the free world on its own economically is almost too good to be true. But, as laid down by Strohm, the situation in Southeast Asia bears real promise.

The U. S. should take every sensible measure it can to foster the development of a healthy, self-propelling economy in that region. Obviously it would be the finest possible assurance against successful inroads by the insistent Communist forces now hammering at the northern borders.

Military aid must come first in the critical sectors. But economic recovery is the long-run safeguard that can keep Southeast Asia permanently free.

Send Him to the Showers

Senator McCarthy of Wisconsin began his heavy bombardment of the State Department on Feb. 20. The barrage was steady for several weeks, but many seasoned observers figured it would gradually taper off.

It's now nearly the end of May, however, and the senator is still blasting away. Apparently the end is not in sight. We must be prepared for statements, charges, counter-charges and the like issuing almost daily.

By July McCarthy should be such standard fare that his pronouncements can be slipped into the daily news agenda along with the weather report, the stock prices and the vital statistics.

The only difference: After the November elections we'll still be hearing about the weather, the stocks, and the births and deaths. The same should not be true of the senator.

Well, anyway, there's no harm in hoping.

• So They Say

The decision to form a front in Europe against a possible further invasion by Soviet Russia and its satellite states is at once grave for us, and also imperative.

—Winston Churchill.

The State Department evidently does not realize that we cannot kill time. It is time which kills us. I'm afraid the hydrogen bomb wears no wristwatch.

—Sen. Estes Kefauver (D.) of Tennessee.

STEPS TO SEX VICTORY

If we are to use the powers of sex aright, then we should take the following steps: (1) We should recognize sex for what it is—a God-given power, neither moral nor immoral in itself, but moral or immoral according to its use.

This should take the shame out of our consideration of sex itself and put it where it belongs—on our use of sex. There is no shame in sex; there is shame in the wrong use of sex. If people would be ashamed of what they do with sex and not of sex itself, then there would be more normal, healthy attitudes toward it. Sex has brought more heaven and more hell into life than has any other thing. And we make the heaven or the hell according to what we do with sex.

Every normal person has sex desire—to act as if we have no sex desire is to produce hypocrisy and probably complexes. Bring the fact of sex up into the open in your thinking—look at it, but not too long, and then decide what you are going to do with it. Note: What you are going to do with it, and not what it is going to do with you. For sex is a wonderful servant, but a terrible master. It can serve all the interests of life, or it can ruin all the interests of life. The battle of life as a whole will probably not rise above the sex battle. Lose the sex battle and defeat spreads into every portion of your being; win the sex battle and all life is uplifted by that victory.

(2) The place of sex is not the first place, and sex is not an end in itself. If you put sex first, it will corrupt your whole life. Those who most ardently give sex the first place and make it an end in itself get the least out of it—little except kickbacks in the form of disgust and self-loathing. The law of sex life is this: He that saveth his sex life—makes it first, an end in itself—loseth it. And the law works with mathematical precision; there are no exceptions and no exemptions.

O God, I see, if sex takes Thy place and rules me, that I shall be the servant of a desire. And that desire will ride me to the hell of self-loathing. I would therefore bring my sex life to the altar of Thy love and there ask Thee to make it the servant of my love to Thee. May these lesser loves fit into my love to Thee. Amen.

The Doctor Says—

Youngsters Should be Taught Early to Avoid Constipation

By EDWIN F. JORDAN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

Constipation is complained about a lot but it is not as common as most people think. The term chronic constipation should be used only when the bowel actually does keep waste matter too long. It should not be confused with a spastic colon or irritable bowel, which so many people mistake for constipation.

No one feels really full of pep and vigor unless the waste material from food passes through the intestines in the proper way. If it goes too fast diarrhea is present; if it stays too long in the lower bowels or large intestine and becomes hard and dry, constipation results. Either of these interferes with a really healthy feeling.

The proper emptying of the bowels is partly a matter of training. Neglect and improper training, especially in childhood, are often at fault. A regular time of day for bowel movement should be chosen early in life. This responsibility should be given to a youngster as soon as he is able to take it.

At this time careful instruction should be given not only as to the regularity of bowel movement but also on the importance of responding to nature's call as the constant suppression of this impulse is likely to produce constipation and perhaps piles or hemorrhoids.

Diet, of course, has a great deal to do with regulating the bowel movement and avoiding constipation. Food should be carefully chosen and properly chewed. The diet should contain enough fruits and vegetables which supply "roughage" or bulk to provide sufficient volume to produce one good bowel movement a day. If too many laxative foods are contained in the diet, however, it may irritate the intestine and cause too many or too loose stools. This should be avoided as well as the other extreme of insufficient bulk.

The constant use of laxatives or cathartics with the idea of completely emptying the bowel is undesirable. The intestines are not meant to be entirely empty under normal conditions and the too frequent use of laxatives merely irritates and may cause actual harm to the intestines.

Diet Counts

Simple constipation can usually be satisfactorily treated with diet alone. This is more difficult if the condition has lasted for many years, but satisfactory diet, exercise and regularity ordinarily succeed in correcting the difficulty.

Chronic constipation, however, is better avoided than treated. Consequently the proper diet, adequate exercise and good bowel habits should be adopted in youth.

A Glimpse Under the Curtain

The LONESOME BRIDE

By Grace Nies Fletcher

Copyright 1953 by NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: When Gloria Brown baked an apple pie, she lands in the middle of a murder case. Mrs. Benoni, her next door neighbor, who taught Gloria how to bake the pie, disappears and the body of a very dead underworld character is found in the Brown's dumbwaiter. Later the new doorman at the apartment house directs Gloria to Tony's fruit market where Gloria is thrust into a backroom to come face to face with Mrs. Benoni who asks Gloria to bring the apple pie Mrs. Benoni left in her kitchen—because she had put her safe deposit box key in it. Gloria refuses, and goes to the beach with her husband Miltiades.

X
ACTUALLY Gloria was so relieved to get away from the atmosphere of horror and suspicion they had left behind at the Splendide, that she did not care what happened to their things.

It was just as well she hadn't told Miltiades about seeing Mrs. Benoni because he would have insisted upon telling the lieutenant and that would have complicated things still further, for that suspicious McGann would never have believed Gloria hadn't planned the meeting that she did not know whether the safe deposit box key in it. Gloria refused, and goes to the beach with her husband Miltiades.

Gloria sighed and went into the bathroom to put on her suit. The enormous pair of perspiration-soaked corsets she found there were a bit trying, so she got out as soon as she could.

The hideous events of the day were, for the moment, washed from their memory and for a few moments they floated near side by side, beyond the milling crowd, alone with laughter, the sea and the sky. Gloria glanced back at the scrambling mass of people near shore, writhing together like worms in a bucket and sighed comically.

"They're afraid," she said. "Afraid to trust themselves to the deep water and so of course they sink. Let's never be afraid again, my darling. . . . My goodness, Miltiades, look at that girl in the red bathing cap! She's in trouble!"

APPARENTLY the girl Gloria saw had dived and had come up, but not all the way. Maybe she had a cramp! Her face and body were still under water and her head rolled as if she had no control over it. As they watched, she began to sink again.

"Quick. She's drowning!" Gloria gasped.

Miltiades' big shoulders flashed past her and she could only follow as fast as she could, her breath coming in gasps, her heart pounding. By the time she caught up, Miltiades had the red-capped girl in his arms and was holding her, up to his own neck in water.

"Go back!" he told Gloria desperately. "Get away from me! Don't let on you even know me, see? Just go home at once!"

Was he crazy? Gloria stared at him and then down at the girl. Her heart stopped beating entirely for a second because it looked as if the girl had two caps on, the red one on her head and a white on her back; but when you looked more closely you saw the red hilt of a knife protruding from the cap that clung to her shoulders.

Someone had stabbed her in the back with a knife wrapped in a bathing cap!

The crowd, sensing excitement, had begun to surge toward them and the lifeguard was blowing his whistle and running from his tower toward his dory. As Miltiades strode grimly closer to shore with his terrible burden, a minor riot ensued. One man yelled, "She's drowned! Get the cops!" A woman screamed, "Help! Police!"

Two policemen had left the radio car up on the street and came running to meet Miltiades who, pushing his way through the mob, laid the body unceremoniously into the arms of one of the cops and wiped his streaming face of perspiration and sea water.

"I found her this way, floating out yonder," Miltiades said wearily, to the cop. "Believe it or not. I haven't an idea who she is or anything about her."

"He murdered her! See the knife?" The crowd surged around him, shoving, pushing, angry while Gloria fought with her arms and knees to get through to him, half-sobbing, "Let me through! He's my husband!"

"Stand back!" the first cop bawled again. "All of yez." But no one paid him any attention.

The jostling had loosened the dead girl's red bathing cap so that, as Gloria finally reached Miltiades' side, the cap fell back to show a strand of dyed, parti-colored hair and she knew where she had seen the girl before.

"T's Sall!" Gloria knew blankly and then yelled, "You let go of my husband!"

A big brunet clad in a pair of shorts printed in large palm trees had jumped up onto Miltiades' back and was bawling, "I got him! He can't get away!"

"Let him go, Mister. I'm in charge here," an authoritative voice said and Gloria was never so glad to see anyone before in her whole life as Lieutenant McGann's stern plump face, his dependable salt and pepper arm to which she clung as Miltiades angrily shook off the kabitizer.

"We found her out in the water!" Gloria babbled. "I sent Miltiades to help her—to save her life." Then, as this did not seem exactly an appropriate way to put it, "I saw her bobbing and thought she was drowning so Miltiades went to save her."

Her voice died away for the lieutenant had bent down, was examining the knife between the shoulder blades of the girl lying there face down on the sand. He pushed back the white bathing cap gently from the handle and a peculiar look came over his face.

"You folks should patronize a new hardware store," Lieutenant McGann said, straightening up. Gloria and Miltiades stared at the knife. The small gilt letters stood out clear in the sunlight. "MRS. M. B."

It was Gloria's knife! It couldn't be. But it was.

the use of trying?" frame of mind. I'm just so confused and mixed up I'm thinking in circles.

Who To Talk To Is Problem
"But who can I talk to, since I can't talk to my husband? I don't want to drag my parents into it. I can't bear for my friends to know what we are going through. Yet, I think if I could talk to some outsider I might be able to see things more clearly."

When a woman becomes that confused and "mixed-up" she needs expert help, not the sympathy of friends or the championship of her parents.

It would probably be wise for her to ask her family physician to recommend a good psychiatrist. But in the end she will have to talk to the one person who shares her troubles—her husband—not in anger, and not in bitterness, but in humility.

"This is how it is with me. Tell me, and I will try to understand how it is with you. And if we're honest and stop trying to blame each other for our difficulties, perhaps we can agree on how to work them out."

Tipton

By Mrs. Thomas W. Miller

Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Gerbes returned home Friday from Chicago, Ill., where they had been attending for a week a convention of the International Super Market Institute.

Besides the United States the countries of Mexico, Venezuela, Canada, France and England were represented. The convention was well attended the registration totaling 6,527.

During the time Frank and Mrs. Gerbes were in Chicago, President Truman was there.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Pulley, northeast of town, was the scene of a most happy gathering Sunday when sixty-one relatives gathered for a reunion of the Powell family.

A turkey dinner with all the trimmings was served and moving pictures were taken by Mike Billingsley on his machine.

Those coming from the greatest distance were Mr. and Mrs. Cameron Herold and daughters, Janet and Judy, of Lima, Peru, Mrs. Herold being a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pulley and Mrs. Letitia Finley. They have with them a maid for the children, a native of Peru, who speaks only in her native Spanish language. Mr. Herold is a pilot for Pan-American Grace Airlines. The family will spend some time visiting in this country.

Among other out-of-town guests present at the reunion were Lt. Velma Powell, of Ft. Jay, N. Y., Mr. and Mrs. Walker Dorzab and son, of Ft. Scott, Kans., Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Stephens and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Forrest

CAUGHT IN THE ACT—Two Berlin youths posting forbidden Communist propaganda in the western zone of the city are caught in the act by an alert cameraman. The Tipton Chapter of the Eastern Star was presented a visit of the Friendship Bible from the Eugene Eastern Star at the Masonic hall, Monday evening.

Twenty-one members of the Star were here from Eugene, and ten members from the Clarksburg chapter, the two lodges being guests for the evening of Tipton.

The Friendship Bible is from the Worthy Grand Matron, Mrs. Fern Barton, of Jefferson City, the presentation to Tipton being by Mrs. Flora Sestak, Worthy Matron of the Eugene Eastern Star.

Mrs. Gladys Billingsley, Worthy Matron of the Tipton Chapter, gave the responding address.

In receiving the Bible there was a special ceremony given by Mrs. Mary Jane Miller, Mrs. Helen White, Mrs. Helen Eberle, Mrs. Gladys Helms, Mrs. Lora Crawford, Mrs. Eva Collier and Mrs. Nadine Lloyd.

During the course of the evening a wedding gift of sterling silver was presented Mrs. Miller, a recent bride, by the Star, the presentation being by Mrs. Helen Hardy, and Indiana. At Nashville, Tenn., Saturday night, they attended the Grand Ole Opry radio program.

Dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Quigley, Tuesday noon, were Mrs. George Routsong and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. David Routsong and daughter, Dana, of Sedalia. Mrs. Quigley and Mrs. George Routsong are sisters.

Dr. and Mrs. H. P. Stonner and children left Wednesday morning for a stay until June 2nd with Mrs. Stonner's mother, Mrs. A. P. Gevelinger at Mineral Point, Wis.

Taking it for granted...

We Americans sometimes take a lot of things for granted. Like the availability of electricity at the flick of a switch... the money we get from Washington always comes out of the other fellow's pocket... and the right to good government.

Sometimes, however, we find those who take advantage of this American trait. Like ambitious civil servants who use the people's tax money to create for themselves the same "big business" which they denounce as "dangerous to democracy." In fashion now is a plan to have the government set up a power empire to drive the privately owned companies out of business. This has evolved from the recent combine of the SPA and the REA in this territory served by the Missouri Public Service Company.

Electricity is brought to our customers sometimes at the risk of life and limb. And many of us risked our lives and limbs during the last war in defense of good government. Good government does not permit the circumvention of its laws and regulations by those it hires to enforce its rules and regulations. Congress has repeatedly denied the request for funds by the Southwestern Power Administration for the purpose of building steam plants. Congress says the SPA was created to market power, not buy or create power.

The SPA, however, has gone around to the back door of REA, another government agency, and is getting its steam plant anyway by having REA borrow the money then leasing the plant to SPA.

We Americans take it for granted that the employees of our own government are working in the best interests of all of us. Sometimes, however...

THE SEDALIA DEMOCRAT Sedalia, Mo., Thursday, May 25, 1950

The newschart above, based on data from the Department of Agriculture, shows how the U. S. farm population declined steadily from a 1920 peak of 32,000,000 to 25,000,000 in 1930, then climbed back to 27,000,000 by 1949. Improved business conditions after 1933 caused a steady migration from the farms. World War II hastened the trend, as millions left the farms for city war plants or the armed forces. Farm population today appears to be leveling off about midway between the prewar normal and the wartime low.

No Special Session Of Legislature

St. Louis Mayor Told City Should Solve Financial Problem

JEFFERSON CITY, May 25—(P)—Gov. Forrest Smith told the mayor of St. Louis Wednesday the city could solve its own financial problems without a special session of the Missouri legislature.

The governor made two main points in a sharply worded reply to Mayor Joseph M. Darst. The mayor has demanded a special session to renew the city's $7,000,000 a year earnings tax, which expires July 17.

Governor Gives Two Points

Smith said:

(1) If the city had been as excited about renewing the tax during last year's legislative session as it is now, there wouldn't be any emergencies.

(2) And anyway, if the city wanted to it could call a special election before July 17 to vote on a proposed new city charter. If it passes, the city could levy its own earnings tax without depending on action by the state legislature.

Gov. Smith's letter was in reply to a hot one from Darst Monday in which the mayor said he doubted the governor's veracity. This is how the governor hit back:

"I am at a loss to understand your lack of interest in the bill during the regular session and now your sudden alarm over the alleged emergency which you say is confronting the city."

"The basis for the emergency which you now claim the city of St. Louis faces, it seems to me, is not one whit different today than it was on the day Senate bill 254 (the earnings tax renewal) was introduced."

Should Have Shown Interest

"It is my feeling that if the city of St. Louis had manifested the same interest at the time of the introduction of this bill and thereafter during the steps necessary for its passage, the results might have been much different than now obtained."

At another point the governor said that if the city had not let the bill lie dormant in a Senate committee for months "possibly it would not find itself in its present situation of so-called emergency."

The governor said it wasn't his fault that the bill did not pass. "Never during the months that the legislature was in session did any representative of the city of St. Louis come to me and ask my help in obtaining favorable action upon the pending legislation."

Borrow Money First

"I furthermore feel that the city of St. Louis before asking for a special session should first exhaust the foregoing remedies, namely: Borrow money from the surplus in its water fund to meet the purported emergency or submit the proposition to the voters at a special charter election which could be held before the present earnings tax law expires. x x x."

Smith noted that even if he did call a special session, it could not convene before June 1. Then it would be a month before a tax renewal bill could be passed. He said he doubted whether the legislature would pass an emergency clause to make such a tax effective immediately. That would mean it could not go into effect for 90 days after the end of the session.

"I am sure you realize," he wrote, "this would be only three months before the beginning of the next regular session of the General Assembly." The next regular session starts early in January, 1951.

A special election on the new charter, he said, would have the advantage of giving the voters who will pay the tax a chance to pass on it.

No Emergency Exists

Or, he suggested, the city could draw on its water fund surplus as in the past.

"x x x If it were legal and proper to draw upon a surplus in this fund before, it certainly would not be improper at this time to borrow during the few months until the next regular session of the legislature."

All in all, Smith said, "I feel that no emergency exists that would necessitate the additional expense to all the people of the state entailed in the calling of a special session."

Fined $150 For Having An Overloaded Truck

Willis B. Arrowwood, of Sanford, Fla., pleaded guilty to a charge of carrying an overweight load. He was arrested Tuesday by State Trooper Stohr for carrying 62,250 pounds which is 9,750 pounds over the state limit.

He was fined $150 in the Magistrate court Wednesday afternoon by acting magistrate, John C. McCloskey.

Vote of Confidence Given GOP Leader

ST. LOUIS, May 25—(P)—Seven St. Louis county Republican leaders met Wednesday and gave a vote of confidence to the present leadership of the party in Missouri.

The vote was a motion of support for Howard V. Stephens, Republican National Committeeman for Missouri, William F. Phares of Maryville, Mo., chairman of the state committee, and Elroy W. Brown, treasurer of the state committee.

Last week Brown turned in his resignation as state treasurer for the party, saying he wanted to be free to support candidates of his own choosing in the coming elections.

Also Stephens recently announced he would resign unless all factions of the party began working together.

Spokesman for the group today was Roy H. Bergman of Normandy township. The others who attended were George W. Hartman,

Four Die in a Farm Home Fire

GUILFORD, Me., May 25—(P)—A young mother perished yesterday with 3 children — two her own — she tried vainly to save from their flaming farmhouse. Neighbors saved two other children from a downstairs kitchen of the two-story dwelling. Other child ran to safety. The dead were: Mrs. Lillian Sprague, 25; her daughter Sandra, three; her son David, four and a niece, Carol Ann, three, whose last name was not available.

The fire broke out in the farmhouse three miles outside this village shortly after Geo. Sprague, Sr., departed for work in the woods.

Eimer Huff, who owns the farm and resides across the road and Lawrence Priest, 17, another neighbor, saved Robert Sprague, two, and Thomas, one. George Jr., five, raced from the farmhouse.

"Mummy ran upstairs and didn't come down," George told Huff. Huff said Mrs. Sprague raced upstairs in an effort to reach the three youngsters in their bedrooms and was trapped.

Drives School Bus Eleven Years Without Accident

Edward (Dutch) Martin of Hughesville finished eleven years as bus driver of the Hughesville consolidated schools last Friday. In the fall of 1938, the five country schools in the consolidated district were brought to school in one bus, driven by Jim Wiley, meeting in the old High School building, while the new building, which stands on the present site, was in the process of being constructed. By the fall of 1939, the new building was ready for occupancy, with the grade pupils in the consolidated district, the high school students, and in addition high school students from outlying districts were to be transported, so the second bus was added, with "Dutch" Martin as driver. At the present time there are three busses, with the drivers "Dutch" Martin, Wes Newton and Alonzo Moon, all three meriting a word of praise from the patrons of the Hughesville and surrounding districts they are serving.

"Dutch" has driven the bus approximately 250,000 miles, over all kinds of roads (back in 1939 many roads were off the all weather roads) icy snow drifted, muddy roads—yet "Dutch" never had an accident, and with patience of a school bus driver, is well liked and will drive the bus on his old job this fall. His only son, Joe Henry graduated from the high school last year, after attending the Hughesville grade and high school the full 12 years.

Glen Snider served as superintendent for 16 years and is now on the staff of West Central State College at Weatherford, Okla. Mr. Edward Beatty, Jr. has been the Hughesville superintendent the past two years.

Expect More Atomic Spy Case Arrests

A 'Trick Question' By FBI Agents Led To Arrest Of Gold

WASHINGTON, May 25—(AP)—New arrests in the Anglo-American atomic spy case were predicted on Capitol Hill as officials disclosed that the FBI had sifted through a list of 1,200 persons to bring about the arrest of Harry Gold.

It was also disclosed that a "trick question" by FBI agents trapped Gold and led to his reported confession of serving as go-between in a Soviet espionage ring.

A Hospital Bio-Chemist
Gold, 39, a 4,600-a-year hospital bio-chemist, is being held under heavy guard in Philadelphia in default of $100,000 bail.

Officials said the question that broke down Gold's stubborn denials of wrongdoing came when FBI agents casually asked him whether he had ever been in the western part of the United States.

When he replied no, they confronted him with evidence showing he met Dr. Klaus Fuchs, the convicted British atomic scientist, in New Mexico five years ago.

That was when Gold allegedly admitted he passed on U. S. atomic secrets from Dr. Fuchs to Soviet agents.

Officials said the trail from Dr. Fuchs to Gold led FBI agents through a long, painstaking quest in which 1,200 persons who might have been in close contact with the British scientist were checked. Eventually, the hunt narrowed down to a small group of chemists in the New York-Philadelphia area, and finally to Gold's arrest.

While the FBI kept a tight silence on the possibility of new arrests, officials made it clear that the Fuchs case is by no means closed with the arrest of Gold.

Agents Jog Hazy Memory
In London, FBI agents sought to jog the somewhat hazy memory of Dr. Fuchs for further clues to an international spy ring. Two agents questioned Dr. Fuchs at Old Wormwood Scrubs prison for the third time since Saturday. Fuchs is serving a 14-year term.

They refused to indicate, however, whether the stepped-up quizzing may lead to more arrests.

But on Capitol Hill, lawmakers of both houses who are in close touch with atomic matters freely predicted that new breaks may come soon.

Senator Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo.) and Rep. Elston (R-Ohio), both members of the joint Senate-House atomic committee, said they believe there must have been others involved in the Fuchs-Gold conspiracy and that additional arrests will be forthcoming.

Among other things, it is known the FBI would like to find out whether Gold was originally lined up for his courier job by Jacob Golos, alleged top Russian agent who died of a heart attack in this country in 1943.

Admits Fuchs Dealings
Gold, who has admitted dealings with Fuchs in the United States in 1944 and 1945, presumably passed the secrets to a Soviet official. This official is now believed to be back in his home country.

The FBI is investigating whether Gold rendered other services to the Russians even before he met Fuchs, presumably as a result of directives from Soviet superiors.

The agents went to Gold's home in Philadelphia on May 15 and asked him for an account of his wartime movements and activities. Gold, it is learned, described these as entirely innocent. But according to informed sources he made the mistake of disclaiming any knowledge of the western United States.

Two Meet In 1945
He was then confronted with FBI evidence that he had a meeting with Fuchs in Santa Fe, N. M., in 1945, when Fuchs was associated with the Los Alamos, N. M., atom bomb project.

Officials said that Gold's previous story then began to break down, finally ending with a confession of the Fuchs contacts which resulted in his arrest last night.

Whether other leads on American contacts are still being followed, the FBI does not say. However, it is clearly indicated that the bureau does not consider the Fuchs matter closed with the Gold arrest.

Surgeons have found ice a successful local anesthetic for amputation cases.

Wed at Easter

Mrs. Danny Howell, who before her marriage on April 9, was Miss Dorraine Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Anderson, of Warsaw route 1.

Miss Lorraine Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Anderson, of Warsaw, route 1, became the bride of Mr. Danny Howell, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Howell, of Waldron, Ark., on Easter Sunday, April 9, at the Clear Creek Baptist church near Lincoln at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon. The Rev. Hugh Sperry, of Clinton, read the double ring service before an altar setting of white madonna lilies.

Preceding the ceremony Miss Anna Grace Graves played: "Faith and Hope" by Brahms, and "The Wedding March" by Mendelssohn. There were also two vocal recordings, "Because" by Hardelot and "I Love You Truly" by Carrie Jacobs Bond, previously recorded by Mr. Howell, the bridegroom.

The bride, who was given in marriage by Mr. Roy Butts, a friend of the family, chose for her wedding a gown of white Chantilly lace and net over white satin. The fitted lace bodice was fashioned with a round neckline and long sleeves tapering to points over the wrists and fastened with tiny lace covered buttons. Bands of lace extended the length of the bouffant hooped skirt and the wide train. Her fingertip veil of imported bridal illusion fell from a calot of beilloom Chantilly lace which was held in place on either side with clusters of white lilies and she carried a bouquet of white Easter lilies and pink roses. She wore a single strand of pearls.

Miss Virginia Anderson, of Kansas City, sister of the bride, was maid-of-honor. She wore a gown of peach starched organdy over matching taffeta and carried a bouquet of white Easter lilies.

The bridesmaid, Miss Avis Hower, also of Kansas City, wore a gown of aqua blue marquisette over matching taffeta and carried a bouquet of lilies.

Mr. Harold Phelps, of Kansas City, a friend of the bridegroom, served as best man.

Mr. Leroy Anderson, brother of the bridegroom, was groomsmen. Ushers were: Mr. Clyde Tucker and Mr. Raymond Delosier.

Mrs. Anderson, mother of the bride, wore a white and navy print crepe dress with white accessories.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony at the church.

The dining table was covered with a lace cloth and was centered with a large three tiered wedding cake on which was a miniature bride and bridegroom and on either side were tall yellow and white tapers in crystal holders. After the first piece of cake, was cut by the bride and bridegroom Mrs. Raymond Delosier and Mrs. Rispy McDaniel, of Springfield, assisted in serving cake, punch and mints to approximately 100 guests.

Due to illness the bridegroom's parents were unable to attend.

Following the reception the couple left for a wedding trip to St. Louis. The bride chose for traveling a pastel blue gabardine suit with a pink hat and her other accessories were of navy blue. Her corsage was of pink roses.

The bride is a graduate of Lincoln high school and is a former student at Missouri university.

The bridegroom was recently graduated from the university of Wyoming with a degree in music.

The couple is now at home at 918 East Thirtieth street at Kansas City, Mo.

Beta Tau Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi will meet at the home of Miss Gene Sullivan, 418 East Seventh street, at 8:00 o'clock tonight.

A family reunion was held on Sunday, May 21, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Rich and daughter Sue of Bellflower, Calif., who have been visiting relatives in Missouri and also to observe the 81st birthday anniversary of Mrs. Caroline Kubli, grandmother of Mrs. Rich.

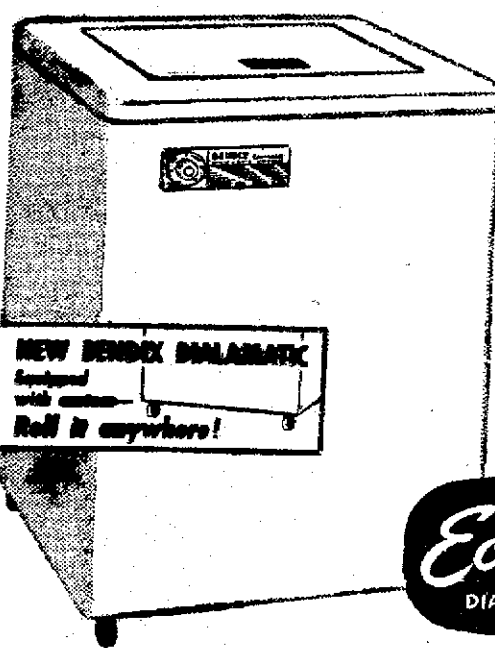

The reunion was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Gouge in California, Mo., with whom Mrs. Kubli makes her home.

In addition to having all of her children with her for the day Mrs. Kubli had also the two granddaughters whom she reared from infancy.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. John Kubli and son Junior, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Kubli and son

Mrs. B. A. Bridges

The Syracuse high school alumni held its third annual banquet in the school auditorium May 20th with 80 guests present. The guests were seated at four tables facing the speakers table and were decorated with spring flowers.

The president, Mrs. Herbert Brauer, extended the welcome address and introduced the mistress of ceremonies, Mrs. Oliver Stahl, who had charge of the program. The invocation was given by Paul Edwin Stahl, a vocal duet by Mrs. Hadley Stahl and Albert Ellis; a vocal duet by Misses Delores and Wanda Roesler accompanied by their mother, Mrs. Roger Roeller of Kansas City; an address by Kenneth Kirchner, administration assistant to commission of education of Jefferson City; musical number by the Roesler family.

Ray Burns presided over the business session. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Ray Burns; vice-president, Mrs. Roger Roeller of Kansas City; treasurer, James Boulware; secretary, Mrs. O. E. Corby, re-elected; historian, Mrs. Cecil Peoples. It was voted to have the fourth annual banquet on the third Saturday evening of May, 1951. Superintendent Ira Brubb of Tipton spoke in cooperation of school districts.

The banquet was served by Mrs. Harry Fowler and Mrs. George Peoples, with the following girls serving: Rhoda Sue Schroeder, Patricia Keovil, Ann and Margaret Nichols and Morene Williams.

The meeting adjourned with the singing of the "Alma Mater."

"Radio in Missions" was the theme of the W. M. S. program held Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Lewis Smith. The president, Mrs. Ray Burns, presided over the meeting. A song service was led by Mrs. C. Marshall Renno, and the devotional was given by Mrs. Helen Hotsenpiller, "The Voice of a Christian."

A playlet was given, "Broadcasting Station in Shanghai," was presented by Mrs. Renno, Mrs. Burns, Mrs. L. A. Stahl, Mrs. R. E. Kirchner, Mrs. Herbert Brauer and Mrs. B. A. Bridges.

During the business session it was voted to contribute to the Chair of the Bible at the University of Missouri. Four of the G. A. girls were present. They were: Patricia Watring, Anna and Margaret Nichols and Cynthia Burns.

Mrs. Brauer resigned as young peoples leader and Mrs. Renno elected to fill the vacancy the remainder of the year.

It was announced the vacation Bible school will be held from May 31st to June 9th at the Baptist church. Mrs. L. A. Stahl and Mrs. Ethel Walters were named on the social committee.

The June meeting will be with Mrs. Hotsenpiller. Visitors were Mrs. Leroy Homan, Mrs. George Henry Neitzert, Mrs. David Wittman, Miss Lizzie Carson, Mrs. Ernest Homan and Mrs. Claud Nichols. The latter two joined

Opportunity Fellowships Knock for 42 Hopefuls

PETER COLEMAN: Samoan with legal ambitions. MILTON WISE: Help for the folk of the Appalachians. EVELYN YELLOW ROBE: Help for correct speech. DELIFINO VARELA: Help for Spanish-American blind. VAN SIZAR ALLEN: Help for a retiring biologist.

By RICHARD KLEINER
NEA Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (NEA)—When Opportunity Fellowships knocked on the door, 570 people answered. That number applied for the first fellowships of the John Hay Whitney Foundation, designed to aid any person "of exceptional promise" who has not had "full opportunity to develop his talents because of arbitrary barriers such as racial or cultural background or region of residence."

The first winners—a group of 42 persons from 16 states, Guam, Samoa and Alaska—include men and women who have been held back by many different barriers, arbitrary and otherwise.

There is Peter Tali Coleman, for example. Coleman is a 31-year-old Samoan who wants to be the first native Samoan to become a lawyer. The son of an American father and a Samoan mother, he is now studying at Georgetown Law School. He has a BS in economics from Georgetown.

Coleman has five children, which in itself is a pretty high barrier to further studies. But he is working as a guard at the House Office Building in Washington and, with the Opportunity Fellowship, he should be able to complete his law studies.

Coleman, incidentally, served six years in the Army. He enlisted as a private and emerged a captain. He says he wants "to acquaint the Samoan people with the great intellectual tools, social concepts and institutions of the west."

One group of people long overlooked by philanthropic groups aiding minorities has been the Southern mountaineer white. But Opportunity Fellowships picked one such person, a Newland, N.C., youth named Milton Bee Wise.

Wise is a 20-year-old with the ambition to get a master's degree in animal husbandry and teach the Appalachian mountain folk to improve their farming methods and thus raise their standard of living.

He worked his way through Berea College in Kentucky, where he made a very high record, as a farm laborer, waiter, carpenter and cashier. He wants to—and with this award, he will—study at North Carolina State College.

Evelyn Yellow Robe, a Dacotah Indian from Rapid City, S. Dak., will use her fellowship to work toward a Ph. D. in speech correction and audiology at Northwestern University.

Now an instructor in speech at Vassar, she graduated magna cum laude from Mount Holyoke, and has an MA from Northwestern. She explained that she had saved $1000 to study for her doctorate, but illness in her family wiped the money out.

Another winner is Delifino Varela, a Spanish-American blind person. Varela is completely blind in his left eye and 90 percent blind in his right eye. Nevertheless, he compiled an A-minus record at the University of New Mexico.

Now he wants to study social work so he can help the social and psychological rehabilitation of other Spanish-American blind persons. Varela knows from experience that most sightless persons, especially in a minority group, are condemned to mental work.

He himself worked his way through college as a dishwasher. But he still became one of the student leaders on campus. He also was a 4-H club leader, and sales manager for a blind-made products distributor.

Van Sizar Allen is a 24-year-old Negro from Edwards, Miss., who compiled an amazing record as a biology student at tiny Tougaloo College in Tougaloo, Miss. The head of the biology department, due to retire in a few years, thinks Allen is capable enough to be her successor, if he has some graduate training. With this fellowship, he'll get it.

Allen, a Navy veteran, is the oldest of nine children raised on a Mississippi farm. Asked if he could supply any money himself he said no, but added a shy postscript: "I would be able to supply my own train fare."

The other winners include Chinese-Americans and Japanese-Americans, an Alaskan Indian, a Jewish Displaced Person. They will study in 21 fields, ranging from medicine and music to city planning and print making.

Honor Graduates Of CMS College

Honor graduates were announced at the seventy-sixth annual commencement exercises held Wednesday at Central Missouri State college in Warrensburg. Honor students (with a "B" grade average or better) are, in order of their rank: Vonda Lankford, of Adrian; Gerald McDaniel, of Kansas City; David William Laughlin, of Foster; William D. Reavis, of Kansas City; Donna Lee Chitty, of Adrian; James Edgar Green, of Warrensburg; Betty Lou Hunt, of Windsor; Buford Cooper Lauer, of Montgomery City; Norman Lafayette Jeter, of Slater; Glenn June Blain, of Warrensburg; Ira F. East, Jr., of Clinton; Paula Marie Griffith, of Harrisonville; Gerry Williams, of Fostoria; Wallace Finkbeiner, of Concordia; Ramona Rae Reynolds, of Lexington; Kenneth Roy Evans, of Warrensburg; Mary Kathryn Hieronymus, of Hughesville; Julia Ann Atkins, of Clinton; Glenn Carroll Martin, of Lebanon; Margaret Irene Jones, of Clinton; and Elaine Wood, of Warrensburg.

Earl T. Crawford, of this city, a member of the college board of regents, was a guest on the platform and was presented to the large audience by President George W. Diemer, as were other regents, alumna and families of graduates.

More than one hundred from out of town were present at the commencement, including those from the Sedalia area.

Dr. Clarence R. Decker, of Kansas City, gave the address: "Greatest of America."

Survivors include the widow; two sons, John Conrad of Morganville, Ky., and A. B. Conrad Jr., a student at the University of Missouri, and his father, W. M. Conrad of Prairie Hill, Mo.

Conrad operated a dairy farm and was active in balanced farming activities.

State Jersey Cattle Club President Dies
CARTHAGE, Mo., May 25—(AP)—A. B. Conrad, 47, vice-president of the Missouri Jersey Cattle club, died unexpectedly Wednesday at his home near Diamond, Mo., 12 miles south of here. He had suffered a light heart attack earlier this spring.

Conrad operated a dairy farm and was active in balanced farming activities.

Survivors include the widow; two sons, John Conrad of Morganville, Ky., and A. B. Conrad Jr., a student at the University of Missouri, and his father, W. M. Conrad of Prairie Hill, Mo.

Poliomyelitis Institutes To Be Held In June
COLUMBIA, Mo., May 25—(AP)—Two institutes on the diagnosis and treatment of poliomyelitis will be presented in six Missouri cities during June by the University of Missouri.

Dr. Thomas A. Brady, vice-president in charge of extra-divisional educational activities, said the institutes would be conducted in cooperation with the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, the Missouri division of health and the state crippled children's service.

Locations and dates for the institutes: Sikeston June 12-13; Springfield 15-16; Hannibal 19-20; St. Joseph 22-23; Jefferson City 27-28 and Kansas City 29-30.

One Monkey Shine Too Many Pulled By Monkey Jerry

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., May 25—(AP)—Jerry pulled one monkey shine too many.

The three-year-old ringtail monkey escaped from his cage at Ormond Tropical Gardens and got into the tool shed.

On a shelf was a fruit jar containing dynamite caps. "He was always a great hand at petty thievery," Jerry's keeper, JoJo the Clown, said. "I guess the caps looked like a new kind of candy to him."

Jerry picked one out and took a bite. Attendants heard the explosion and found the monkey's body in the shed.

Dr. Tadeo Campuzano Dies At Marshall, Mo.

MARSHALL, Mo., May 25—(AP)—Dr. Tadeo Campuzano, 60, a native of Spain and a physician there until about 15 years ago died here after a long illness.

His wife, Elizabeth Pound Campuzano, is associate professor of Spanish at Missouri Valley College. The couple collaborated in the translation into Spanish of Sir J. G. Frazer's book "Golden Bough," a task which required 10 years.

Before his health failed, Dr. Campuzano was associated with Dr. Nicholas Jaime in medical practice in Kansas City.

To Speak at Temple
Elder J. A. Tevebaugh of Marshall will speak at Jones' Holy Temple at 8:00 o'clock Friday night. Music will be rendered by the Cloverleaf quartet of Marshall. Elder B. Jones is the pastor.

Repair Work At Fair Grounds

A considerable amount of repair work now is under way at the State Fairgrounds here, much of it made necessary by high winds which did great damage to the dozens of buildings. Roofs were blown off and windows blown out, with the result that many workmen have been kept busy for some weeks in restoring the structures to proper condition.

Another major feature of repair work which will be necessary before the Fair, August 20-27, will be re-flooring of the grandstand, which normally seats 6,500 persons. Much work, too, is being done on the grounds, flower beds and general landscaping.

Church News

The World Friendship group of the Epworth Methodist church met Monday evening with Ruth Woodward in charge of the program. Joan Harrell presided over the meeting.

The following officers were elected: Joan Harrell, president; Mary Lou Modlin, vice-president; Barbara Woodson, secretary; Beverly Englund, treasurer; Shirley Phillips, publicity.

Dean Hinken and Mrs. Lawrence Dyer, hostesses.

Proposal For National Code Shipping Milk

JEFFERSON CITY, May 24—(AP)—National and state public health officials, milk producers and processors will get together in St. Louis June 1, 2 and 3 to devise a national code for the interstate shipment of milk.

James Rowland, head of Missouri's Bureau of Food and Drugs and chairman of the meeting, said today the group hopes to set up regulations to protect the quality of milk that is transported across state lines.

"We've been trying for 25 years to get it done," Rowland said. "Maybe this time we can."

Edgar G. Macley

News has been received in Tipton of the sudden death on Thursday, May 18, of Edgar G. Macley, of Houston, Tex. He had been in poor health for the past six months.

Mr. Macley, near 70 years of age, was born in Tipton of the late Cyrus Culbertson and Laura B. Macley.

He was graduated from the high school here and afterward received a degree in civil engineering at the University of Missouri. His first position was with the E. C. and R. M. Shanklin Construction company in Chicago, where he remained for a number of years. From there he went to Houston where he had lived over forty years.

In 1923 Mr. Macley was married to Miss Erin L. Weller, of Birmingham, Ala., who survives together with three children, a daughter, Erin Weller now Mrs. John Fryer Furman, of Washington, D. C., and two sons, Douglas Weller and John Dale, of the home; four sisters, Mrs. Martha Shortridge, of Berkeley, Calif.; Mrs. Dorothy Swanner, of Mercedes, Tex.; Misses Laura and Eleanor Macley, of Cincinnati, Ohio and Tipton; one brother, William, of Dallas, Tex., and a number of nieces and nephews.

Early in life Mr. Macley united with the Tipton Presbyterian church and later became an elder in the First Presbyterian church of Houston.

Funeral rites and interment were held in Houston, Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. A. M. Kitchen

Mrs. A. M. Kitchen, of Cornelia, Ga., 90 years old, died Wednesday night following a stroke, according to word received here by her brother, W. E. Hurlbut, 206 West Seventh street.

Surviving besides her brother are a son, Everett Kitchen, of Cornelia and a sister, Mrs. Lila Woodruff, of Omaha, Neb.

Last November Mrs. Woodruff and Mr. Hurlbut went to Cornelia for a visit with Mrs. Kitchen.

Funeral services for Miss Lydia Pregel, who died at the home of Mrs. Oscar Mothersbaugh, 2205 South Missouri avenue, Wednesday morning, will be held at 2:00 o'clock Friday afternoon at the McLaughlin chapel, instead of on Saturday as originally intended. The Rev. Roy Bowers, pastor of the First Methodist church, will officiate.

Mrs. Keith Bohon and Mrs. C. D. Demand will sing "Shadows" and "The Lord's Prayer." Mrs. Mae Moser will be the accompanist.

Palbearers will be Joseph and Robert Long, William and Robert Garrett and Herbert and Donald Bellmer.

Burial will be in Crown Hill.

Mrs. Raymond Robinson

Mrs. Raymond Robinson, 25 years of age, died at Soap Lake, Wash., Wednesday afternoon.

She was formerly Miss Pearl Dump, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Dump of Cole Camp.

Funeral services will be in Cole Camp.

Son, born to Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Coulter, 1708 East Fourth street, at 7:46 o'clock Wednesday night at the Bothwell hospital. Weight: Seven pounds, 12 ounces.

Son, born to Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Schouten, route 1, LaMonte, at 5:10 Wednesday evening at Bothwell hospital. Weight: Six pounds, 14 ounces.

Daughter, born to Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kuhlman, of Lincoln, at 11:59 o'clock Wednesday night at Bothwell hospital. Weight: Six pounds.

Booster Party Friday Night

Friday night will be the opening night of parties planned for the summer by the Booster club.

There will be special numbers by "Rosie" Ellis and his string band; folk songs by the Vaughn sisters; Ernest Mulberry singing song styles you like to hear; popular selection by Don Broadus and Aubrey Case and his quartet.

This will be followed by 15 minutes of tap and acrobatic dancing.

The evening activities will close with square and round dancing with music by "Rosie" Ellis and his band.

Binaggio Pals Are Indicted

with the law 25 years ago. Then he was sentenced to five years in the Missouri State Training school at Booneville, Mo., for robbery.

Four years later he served half of a one-year sentence at the federal reformatory at Chillicothe, O., on a liquor violation.

When the grand jury began its investigation last year, Johnny the Mag was reported to have an income of $42,000 a year from policy and gambling. He also had muscled into the operations of a midget car racing track here.

The Mag was known as the top Binaggio political power in his own precinct. The police recognized his prestige in the Binaggio setup by picking him up for questioning at the Binaggio slayings. The Mag knew nothing, or so he said.

Goldberg, 42-years-old, has been on and off the Kansas City scene for two decades or more. He was well known around the gambling spots in the lush wide-open days before "Boss Tom" Pendergast fell from political power and was sent to the federal prison at Leavenworth, Kas., in the late thirties for income tax evasion.

Goldberg climbed on Binaggio's political band wagon early. Goldberg was arrested March 9, 1949 at the request of the FBI on a charge of transporting in interstate commerce $16,000 obtained in a swindle.

The government accused Goldberg with impersonating H. A. (Jimmy) Jones, a horse race trainer and obtaining $112,000 from businessmen and others in Georgia, principally in Atlanta, by claiming he could fix races so they could win.

The government last August dropped the indictment, saying it lacked jurisdiction.

Eleven Cars of Katy Freight Are Derailed

repairs are only temporary and "slow orders" were issued for all trains passing this point for the present time. Some of the railroad planks on the overpass were also damaged slightly.

Jack Morris, proprietor of the Jockey Club, said that although his business is hardly 100 feet from the location of the wreck, it occurred without the knowledge of anyone in his business. They did not discover anything had occurred until they began closing up and saw workmen along the tracks with lights.

Persons residing in the vicinity reported the noise of the wreck sounded not much louder than when freight cars are being switched in the yards.

Many Sedalians were attracted to the scene this morning to view the wreckage and to watch workmen at their work.

Fifteen Caught In 'Speed Trap'

The Sedalia police department clamped down on speedsters Wednesday night by setting a "speed trap" resulting in the arrest of fifteen speed violators, who appeared in police court this morning and were fined $10 (or forfeited $10 bonds by not appearing) before Judge Jerry E. Trotter.

Other activity in police court this morning was eight overtime parking bonds being forfeited and assessment of a fine of $25.00 against Dan Minor of Sedalia on a charge of disturbing the peace. Unable to pay the fine Minor was committed to the city jail for 25 days.

Speedsters who forfeited $10 bonds this morning were: Florine Romig, 1204 Liberty Park boulevard; G. H. Routzong, 1316 West Fourth street; Jim Smith, Sedalia, route 2; Victor Young, 1400 East Fourth street; Joe Wasson, Sedalia, route 3; Harry Ball, Sedalia, route 5; K. E. Anderson, Sedalia, route 1; Herbert Harms, Cole Camp; E. L. Boyd, Milner hotel; C. A. Sudduth, Smithton; J. R. Stephenson, 1119 East Broadway; Dewey Yarnell, Jr., of Sedalia; George Washington, 219 St. Louis street.

Two appeared before the judge, Mrs. W. Mountjoy, 1629 South Park avenue and Orville Rothgeb of Ottaville. They both were fined $10.

Chief of Police Edgar Neighbors said the department was going to stop speeding in Sedalia and warned that warrants would be issued for those who are given a speeding ticket and fail to show up at the police station to put up a bond after they are stopped by police.

Boys Returned To Independence

Two runaway boys from the Andrew Drum Farm for Orphans of Independence who were picked up near the railroad overpass on southway 65 late Wednesday afternoon by police officers, were taken back to Kansas City this morning, under the care of one of the boy's grandmother.

After the boys were picked up in Sedalia, they were turned over to Cecil Glenn, juvenile officer in Sedalia. The boys spent the night at the Salvation Army.

The two boys had run away because one of them had gotten in a fight and they feared they would be expelled from the farm.

They were identified as Bill McCarty, 15, and Albert Champ, 14. McCarty said that they were heading for Cross Timbers, where he has an aunt and uncle.

The boys explained that if any of the 44 boys who are living at this agriculture training farm got in over three fights he was expelled.

The local police notified Lees Summit who in turn advised the farm officials of the apprehension of the boys and were told to hold the boys over until Thursday morning so the farm officials could go to court and find out what to do.

LOUISIANA, Mo., May 25.—(AP)—Frank M. Sheppard, 60, head of the Pike Grain Co., died of a heart attack at his home today.

Injured by Attack of Bluejays
ST. JOSEPH, Mo., May 25.—(AP)—Mr. E. E. Caton, 91, suffered head and body abrasions yesterday when he was attacked by bluejays.

Mrs. Caton had gone to the aid of a jaybird caught on a fence when she was attacked by five or six birds.

Truck Overturns Loaded With Corn
A ton and half 1946 Dodge truck was turned upside down in the middle of the highway, about eight miles north of Sedalia on southway 65 this morning about 7:00 o'clock, after the tire on the outside dual wheel on the same side, came off.

The accident occurred on top of the Claycomb hill, and 240 bushels of shelled corn was scattered over the highway, after the truck turned over on its top.

The young driver climbed out of the cab of the truck uninjured. Pete Stohr, highway patrolman, made a routine investigation of the wreck.

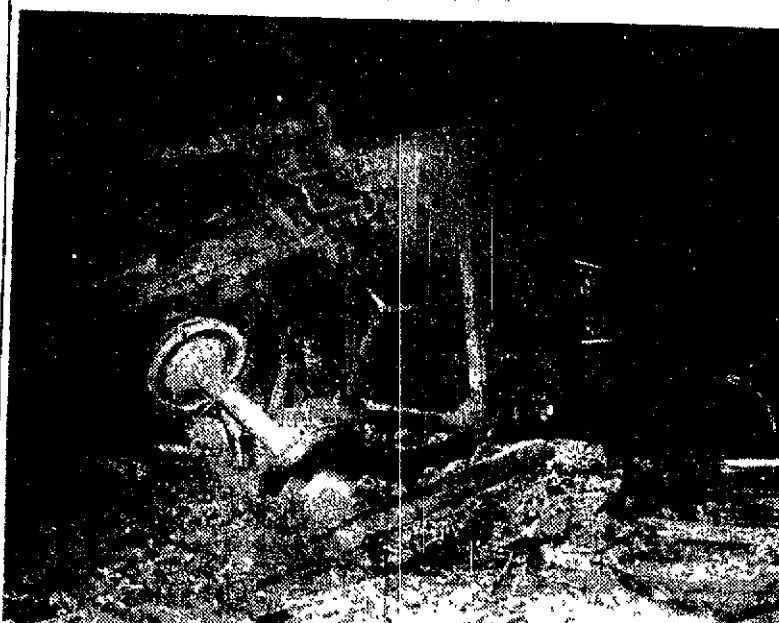

Chamberlain wrecker was routed to the scene and it was utilized in turning the truck right side up. Traffic was slowed up but not halted, as the shoulder was wide enough to enable passage around the truck on the east side of the highway.

Dinner Meeting Held By Insurance Agents
Prudential's full time insurance agents will be guests at the president's district dinner to be held at the Muehlebach hotel in Kansas City this evening at 6:30 o'clock. Miss Marjorie Garanson, special agent, will attend.

W. J. Letts, vice president and former Sedalian will be present at this dinner. The president of the company, Carol M. Shanks, will award the agency citation to the Kansas City agency of Prudential.

Battered Car in Wreck

Shown is one of eleven derailed cars, owned by the M-K-T railroad company, which were wrecked east of the M-K-T underpass, about a mile north of Sedalia on highway 65. The cars were each loaded with 100 tons of either pignion or sulphur. The freight engine was pulling 31 cars when the derailment occurred. A high ranking railroad official said the railroad carried deductible insurance.

have a place in the national economy, and this taxation would destroy them." He said his idea is to put them nearer a fair competitive relationship with other businesses that pay taxes.

Mason suggested:

1. That co-ops pay the regular corporation income tax rate on that part of their net earnings not distributed as dividends to their patrons. He said former co-ops are not now required to pay the corporate tax on such undistributed reserves but the tax "is supposed to be paid by consumer co-ops."

2. Put the patronage dividends paid to co-op customers, under the same 10 per cent dividend withholding tax that the Ways and Means committee has proposed for corporation dividends. The withholding proposal does not increase tax obligations but is designed to show the Treasury who gets the dividend payments and whether they are reported in income tax returns. Co-op dividends would be taxed as any other dividends, under Mason's proposal.

The Illinois member said the farm bureau co-ops in his state pay the corporation tax voluntarily on their undistributed reserves, and that the American Farm Bureau Federation by resolution has proposed that all co-ops pay this tax.

He estimated that co-ops now are doing an annual business of about $15,000,000,000, with earnings over $3,000,000,000.

Spinning Penny On Calls is Out

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., May 25.—(AP)—Spinning a penny to put in a free telephone call at Harvard yard pay stations came to an end yesterday.

The New England Telephone and Telegraph company hanked out yard phones.

The company said the freshmen discovered last September that they could make calls by flicking a penny into the nickel slot and spinning it down the shaft with a key or pencil.

They had been using the system liberally, the telephone company reported. One student admitted he made a free call to Boulder City, Nev., even after the company installed what it considered a fool-proof system.

Skillful students still could spin the penny. The not-so-skillful simply whacked the phone with a baseball bat and generally got the jackpot through the return slot.

The telephone company decided it was time to pull out the phones when it found a tally sheet near one phone.

There was a check mark on the sheet for every successfully spun penny.

transferred to the board, but Congress rejected it. He added he had nothing to say for the present on any future plans in that direction.

At the outset, the President announced an agreement with Britain and France to supply arms to Israel and the Arab states for the defense of those Middle East countries. In a separate statement, he expressed the belief the agreement will strengthen security and contribute to the well being of the peoples in that area.

Until he can confer with Secretary of State Acheson, Mr. Truman withheld comment on the statement by Trygve Lie, secretary general of the United Nations, that there is a possibility of negotiations to end the cold war.

The program chairman for the month has been Al Morgan.

Guests were: W. R. Sugg of St. Louis with Guy Bailey; Abe Silverman with John Zander; C. J. McSpadden, Grand Junction, Colo.; with E. B. McNell; the Rev. Perry Rowland of Windsor with the Rev. H. U. Campbell, and visiting Kiwanian Harvey Green of Jacksonville, Ill.

The club members sang a birthday greeting to the Rev. A. W. Kokenkoff over the telephone. Rev. Kokenkoff is the only honorary member of the club. The group also sent a bouquet of flowers to him Wednesday.

Henry Salveter read a letter from the Kansas City club informing the Sedalian Kiwanians of the radio program that will be on WDAF on June 1. Dick Fowler, former Sedalian, according to the letter, was instrumental in the production of the program.

President Schrankler announced the board of director's meeting in the Ambassador room of the Bothwell hotel on Friday at noon. Tom Yount, announced the golf tourney to be held at the country club on June 8 with Dick Van Dyne as chairman. All Kiwanians of the eighth district will be guests and a dinner will be held at the club house.

Important Events In World News

NEW YORK—(AP)—United Nations Secretary General Trygve Lie returned today from a visit with Premier Joseph Stalin in Moscow and said he would go to Washington in a few days to confer with President Truman.

WINNIPEG, Man., May 25.—(AP)—The flooded Red river continued its slow fall today amid indications that the serious flood menace to Winnipeg is nearly ended.

The river this morning was at 29 feet, more than a foot below the flood-crest peak of 30.3 reached last Friday. If the fall continues at the present rate, it should reach 25 feet by next Tuesday.

HONG KONG, May 25.—(AP)—The Great Southern Steamship Co. said the 1,400-ton freighter Ebonal exploded today off Communist China and was abandoned.

The explosion occurred this morning as the ship was three miles from Swatow, Red port on the Southeast China coast opposite Formosa. A message from the company's Swatow agent said all the crew, including three British officers, reached Swatow safely.

Stock in Rally After a Slump
NEW YORK, May 25.—(AP)—A highly selective late rally pulled the stock market part way out of a minor slump today.

Price prices showed a thorough mixture of gains and losses, most of them fractional.

Losses were shaved for a wide variety of issues and a hand-picked group managed to cross into plus territory. Enough profit-taking sales developed, however, to keep the recovery move in low gear.

On the whole trades were in no rush to take a decisive stand despite a continued flow of good business news. Business was comparatively slow with a turnover at a rate of around 1,500,000 shares for the full session.

General Motors dipped 3/8, 88 1/2 at the opening and scarcely budged from that price the rest of the day. GM surged ahead yesterday in response to news of the five-year contract with the United Auto Workers (CIO).

Department store and mail order shares made a better than average showing, with gains running to around a point for Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, Woolworth, and Macy's.

Also up were Allied Mills, Allen Industries, Brog Warner (up about 4 points at one time), Anderson Clayton, Hupp, Youngstown Sheet and Tube, American Water Works, Colorado Fuel, Homestake Mining, American Cyanamid, and Philip Morris.

Hanging back were Chrysler, Douglas Aircraft, Schenley, American Telephone, United Gas Corp., Kennecott Copper, Air Reduction, Dow Chemical, Du Pont, General Electric, American Tobacco, Frisco, Standard Oil (NJ), and U. S. Gypsum.

Bonds tended lower.

Its A Proxy Marriage For Bergman

Mexican Ceremony Is Not Recognized By Her Former Husband

EL PASO, Tex., May 25—(P)—A member of the law firm that handled Ingrid Bergman's Juarez, Mexico, divorce said that as far as he knows the actress has not been married by proxy in Juarez. The lawyer, Javier Alvarez, said he understood that the proxy papers for the marriages of Miss Bergman and Roberto Rossellini had arrived in Juarez today.

A spokesman in Rome for Rossellini said that the marriage was performed by proxy in Juarez today. Not Through Judge The judge in Juarez through which the marriage would be performed—Judge Raul Orozco—said it had not gone through him. He said he understood, however, that the papers were in process.

Alvarez said that it was possible that Rossellini and Miss Bergman could have arranged matters through another lawyer. Alvarez said that he understood that Marcello Girosi, a New York attorney for Rossellini, arrived in Juarez today.

The Rome story said that Girosi was a witness to the ceremony. Alvarez is in the same firm with William A. Coker, El Paso attorney, who also was listed as a witness. Coker said that he had no comment to make on the reported marriage.

Say They Are Wed ROME, Friday, May 25—(P)—A spokesman for Roberto Rossellini said today the Italian film director and Ingrid Bergman had been married by proxy at Juarez, Mexico.

The marriage took place yesterday morning, the spokesman said. Witnesses were named as Marcello Girosi and one of Rossellini's lawyers in the United States, a Mr. Gocke.

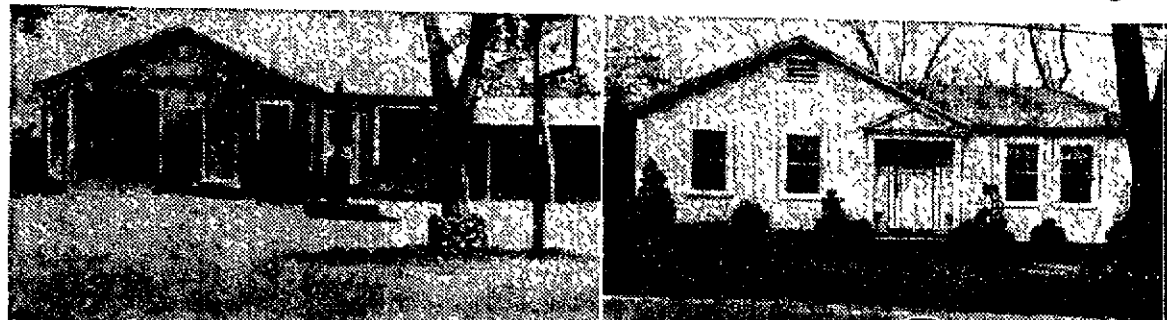

Rossellini is the acknowledged father of Miss Bergman's son, born in Rome Feb. 2.

Obtained Mexican Divorce The actress obtained a Mexican divorce from Dr. Peter Lindstrom, Los Angeles brain surgeon, a week after the birth of the baby. Lindstrom never has recognized the validity of that divorce which was granted in Juarez. He intends to obtain a California divorce. Last month Lindstrom and Miss Bergman agreed to a settlement which gives him physical custody of their 12-year-old daughter, Pia, except for half her summer vacation. The actress can not take the child out of the state of California, Lindstrom's attorney has said.

The spokesman for Rossellini said the proxy marriage was legal and that Miss Bergman now is legally Mrs. Rossellini in Italy and in her native Sweden.

Here's a home built by United States Savings Bonds; Independence Drive has real meaning to this family

Most everyone envisions a pretty little home they would like to own some day. Many Americans are doing the one thing which will turn that dream into reality, and that is saving a portion of their income systematically.

A stalwart advocate of that custom is Harold A. Berggren, supervisor of the Electronics shop at the U. S. Navy Underwater Sound Laboratory, New London, Connecticut. Due to the habit of regular saving by investing in U. S. Savings Bonds Mr. Berggren now owns his own home at Old Lyme, Connecticut. Before starting on this venture he had built up a substantial reserve of Savings Bonds which provided him with sufficient security to permit the utilization of his regular earnings for the added expense incurred, some $7000.

Married, and the father of a son, 12, and a daughter, 7, Mr. Berggren had long dreamed of a home of his own where he could be independent and enjoy a happy home life with his wife and children. The dream began to materialize in 1946 when he purchased an old garage, vintage of 1923. Despite its age Mr. Berggren realized that it was structurally sound and was able to visualize the improvements needed to convert it into a modern home. In the fall of 1946 he set about the task of rebuilding. Doing the bulk of the work during spare time with some help from relatives, and from Mrs. Berggren, he remodeled the entire exterior. The interior job included new partihomes, such as we have, to educate their children, and to be able to retire when they are old."

U. S. Savings Bonds enabled Mr. Berggren to build his home without arranging any further financing. Having realized this first ambition he continues to invest in Savings Bonds looking forward to the day when these Bonds will supply the money necessary to educate his children, and to the day when he can retire with the realization that in his home dwells all that a real American holds dear; love—companionship—industry—pride of country and of the individual, and independence. Mr. Berggren is an outstanding example of the U. S. Savings Bonds slogan: "Save for Your Independence."

The U. S. Navy Underwater Sound Laboratory, under direction of Capt. W. L. Pryor, Jr., has consistently maintained an outstanding record for Payroll Savings participation with 65 per cent of the some 600 employees enrolled. Mr. Berggren was one of the first to sign up for the purchase of Savings Bonds. U. S. Treasury Department

Book Review to Busy Stitchers

The Dresden Homemakers club met at the Community hall in Dresden May 16 with nine members from the Oak Grove Homemakers club as guests. After the introduction of club members, the devotion was given by Mrs. F. L. Schenk, her subject being: "The Ten Commandments." A book review "The Chain" was given by Mrs. George Farris and some piano solos by Mrs. D. E. Edwards. After the program guests were seated at long tables decorated with May poles and each guest received a small May basket with fresh spring flowers as favors. The hostesses Mrs. Chester Drake and Mr. Edward Fichter served pink and white cakes and punch. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Ralph Crawford June 20 for an afternoon meeting.

Beer Retailers Hold A Meeting

A beer retailers' meeting was held at Dan's Pioneer room, 121 South Ohio avenue, at 7:00 o'clock Wednesday night under the auspices of the wholesale beer dealers from a radius of fifty miles around.

The theme of the program was "clean up the public taverns and bars into respectable establishments." It was an educational meeting and the main speaker was the president of the Missouri Brewery Association, Walker Pierce, who in his speech made the statement, "We all win by keeping our taverns the tap roots of democracy, that they have always been, rather than the breeding place for 'dry' propaganda."

Two color films were shown to the retailers in conjunction with the plea for a clean up of the American taverns so as to stop adverse criticism of them.

All of the local tavern and bar dealers were present at the meeting along with over 200 other state retailers.

Before and after the meeting a social hour was held with a "dutch lunch" served by the sponsors.
